

NORRIS HOPES FOR ACTION ON MUSCLE SHOALS

Expects Little Difficulty Getting Together if Compromise Is Suggested

FEATURES REVISED

House Committee Reports Morin Bill, Which Differs From Nebraska's Ideas

(Copyright, 1937, Post Pub. Co.)

Washington—Senator George Norris of Nebraska, who has borne the brunt of the fight for Muscle Shoals for several days, said Wednesday that he was very hopeful there would be legislation of some kind at the present session of Congress.

"If the House passes a bill," he said, "and I think they will, and there is a disposition to compromise, we shall have no trouble getting together, though there are some very vital features in the bill as reported from the House Military Affairs Committee, which should be revised."

The House committee reported the Morin bill, which differs from the Norris bill that passed the Senate, in that it requires plant number 2 to be operated to full capacity and removes the preference in the sale of electric power to municipalities having their own transmission systems.

Mr. Norris does not favor the full operation of nitrate plant number 2, but he thinks experiments should be conducted to get a process that will be suitable and bring cheap fertilizer.

NO RULE PROVIDED

Although the House military affairs committee made its report some time ago, no rule has been provided by the House Rules Committee permitting early consideration. Thursday, however, the calendar Wednesday, the Military Affairs committee has the call and the Muscle Shoals bill will be called up for debate. If this is not finished on Wednesday, the measure can go over until the following Wednesday and all day given again to the proposition.

Mr. Norris has been in the call on Thursday and two successive Wednesdays, the measure would have to give way to other bills.

So that fate of Muscle Shoals legislation rests for the time being in the House, which can get early action or filibuster at its will. If the measure does not pass on either day, the call of the two calendar Wednesdays ahead, the prospects of any action at this session would be doubtful as there is nowadays an effort to get Congress to adjourn before the national conventions and there are many other vital measures pending and under consideration by their sponsors.

Senator Norris thinks, however, that the general disposition is to get rid of the problem this time by passing a bill that will reconcile the views of the Senate and House. Both the Morin and Norris bills provide for government ownership and operation so that to this extent there is agreement. It remains, however, to be seen how the House will act on the Morin bill and to what extent it will be amended.

REMOVE CUNNINGHAM TO NATIONAL CAPITAL

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—Sheriff Thomas W. Cunningham was Wednesday ordered removed to Washington where the District of Columbia federal grand jury recently indicted him on a charge of contempt of the senate.

Cunningham, who is treasurer of the Republican state committee, was indicted after he had refused to tell the Reed senate special committee the source of $25,000 he contributed to the William S. Vare campaign in the senatorial election in 1932.

BURGLARS TAKE $150 FROM UNLOCKED SAFE

Racine, Wis.—Up until a week ago the cashier of the Gordon Co. Inc., dealers in auto accessories, had been accustomed to taking the day's receipts to the police station for safe keeping. Tuesday night he violated all precautions by leaving the money in the company's unlocked safe.

Burglars got the $150.

HOOVER DISLIKES EXPENSE HEARING

DREAM OF MARRIAGE TO RESCUE PARENTS MAY BE FULFILLED

Milwaukee, Wis.—(AP)—A 19-year old girl's dream of rescuing her aged parents from poverty by offering herself in marriage for $6,000 appeared closer to realization Wednesday.

Beatrice Albert, of Siren, Wis., a small village in northern Wisconsin where she lived with her parents, and brothers and sisters in a small cabin, had under consideration the offer of W. W. Goynes, a Spanish-American war veteran. Goynes, 48 years old, and the postmaster of the National Soldiers' home near Milwaukee, was moved by the girl's story, and alone in the world, offered to aid her in realizing her aim.

He sought to adopt her, he said, but the girl has indicated that she does not care to be his wife, but if he accepts, her offer was to marry the man who would make financial provision to care for her parents.

JURY UNABLE TO AGREE IN KNAPP TRIAL

Judge Discharges Panel and Woman Official Faces Second Hearing on May 21

Albany, N. Y.—(AP)—A deadlocked and discharged jury Wednesday left the case of Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, charged with grand larceny of a state census pay check, back at the starting point.

After eight hours of deliberation, the jury reported at midnight that it was unable to agree and was discharged by Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan. The date for a new trial was fixed at May 21.

A report published last October by the Census Commission, Inc., a civilian organization, made charges against Mrs. Knapp's administration of the state enumeration of 1930. A special commissioner made an inquiry for Governor Smith. Then two indictments were returned, the charges including grand larceny, forgery, false audit and certification and destruction of state records.

Mrs. Knapp was placed on trial May 1 on an indictment charging larceny of $2,875.00. This was the amount of a check drawn to the order of her step-daughter, Clara Blanche Knapp of the Middlebury college faculty, which was endorsed by Mrs. Knapp herself. Clara Knapp, who appeared as an unwilling witness, testified that she did no census work, did not know who was on the payroll and had never authorized her step-daughter to sign her name as endorsement of any check.

THREE ATTORNEYS FACE BAR GROUP COMPLAINTS

Madison, Wis.—The state supreme court has granted a motion of the state board of bar commissioners to file a complaint against Henry R. Gilbertson, Eau Claire, Julius Kiefer, Milwaukee and Raymond J. Cannon, Milwaukee.

The latter two cases were in connection with charges of "ambulance chasing" in Milwaukee. The complaint asks revocation of the attorney's license of the three.

Gilbertson is now serving a two to four year sentence in the state prison for embezzlement.

Action of the supreme court in setting a hearing is expected within a few days.

Mr. Cannon said that he would contest any action toward his disbarment, if that is the end which commission seeks in filing the complaint.

Social Case Worker Is Needed Here, Women Say

Members of civic organizations here looking for the movement to engage a full-time social case worker for the city, are convinced that an expert in social work will save money for the city and will be the means of reducing the number of poverty-stricken families in the city.

A social-case worker, according to Mrs. L. J. Marshall, secretary of the Appleton Welfare Council, and Mrs. Mabel Shannon, former president of Appleton Women's club, would be a step forward for Appleton.

Mrs. Marshall said a case worker would be able to go into troubled homes, discover the reason, suggest a remedy and then see that the cure is made. A social worker labors in her field very much as a doctor works in his, Mrs. Marshall said.

Personal Expenditures for Campaign Might Total $200, Hoover Tells

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover underwent a searching examination Wednesday at the hands of the senate campaign funds committee, testifying that his personal expenditures might total $200, and telling his interrogators at one time that he wondered if they were not dealing in a "pretty low type of street scandal."

The secretary of commerce and Republican presidential candidate and friends had his campaign in hand, and that the money he had spent personally was largely for telephone calls. He said he had made no promises of patronage in the event of his election.

There was a flare-up when Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, asked if Hoover had recommended that the price of chinaware be increased 15 percent. This brought an emphatic disclaimer from Hoover, with the added remark that "I wonder if the gentlemen of the committee are not getting down to dealing in a pretty low type of street scandal."

Barkley said the question had been suggested from a responsible source. Hoover said that neither he nor any of his relatives had made any campaign contributions, referring the committee to other persons for information as to contributors. He had in mind no substantial contributions from anyone, he said.

Toward the end of the examination Senator Dale, Republican, Vermont, suggested that the secretary seemed "rather resentful of the proceedings of this committee." Hoover replied that there was no resentment, but that he felt the committee was going in for rather minor details while "I think it could get from the men who are conducting this movement for me among the American people."

Senator Barkley asked whether an idea on the part of some men that they might be members of Hoover's cabinet in the event of his election was to be credited to anything except their own optimism.

"I don't resent you asking that," the secretary said, "but I rather resent the implication."

REED SPENDS $31,196

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—E. D. Villmore, of Kansas City, treasurer for the campaign organization of Senator Reed of Missouri, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, testified before the senate campaign funds committee Wednesday that the total receipts by his organization had been $35,414, and that expenditures from Nov. 1 to May 3 had been $31,196.

GOVERNMENT DECIDES ON SHIPPING OPENING

Cleveland, O.—Lake shippers and carriers were believed to have agreed to permit a representative of the United States government to set the date for opening of navigation on the Great Lakes following a brief hearing here Wednesday of an injunction suit brought against the carriers by the government alleging restraint of trade through deferred opening of the navigation season.

Official opening date for navigation, hereafter will be set by the government, H. B. Teggarden, special assistant to the United States attorney general, said.

Thirty-one individuals and companies were charged with restraint of trade because they postponed the opening of navigation this year from April 15 as in the past to May 15.

Upon coming to western shippers who said the late opening had cost up $9,000,000 bushels of grain and caused heavy losses. Teggarden conducted an investigation.

DRY DEMOCRAT CHOICES LEAD IN SOUTHLAND

Take Large Lead in Alabama Elections and Assume Full Control in Texas

Birmingham, Ala.—(AP)—Candidates who sought instructions against any wet presidential candidate were well in the lead for three of the four places in Alabama's delegation-at-large to the Houston convention as scattered returns were received from 182 precincts over the state Wednesday.

Mayor W. A. Gunter of Montgomery, avowed anti-instruction candidate, was leading for fourth place by a slight margin. The first three were: A. H. Carmichael, Harry M. Ayers, and Borden Burr. Trailing Mayor Gunter were J. C. Henderson, and T. S. Faulk. There were 11 candidates seeking the four places.

G. O. P. CONFIDENT IN TAX CUT FIGHT

Republicans Encouraged by Victory in First Skirmishing

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Encouraged by victory in the first skirmishing of the tax reduction fight, Republicans moved forward confidently Wednesday toward a decision in their contest with Democrats for a $200,000,000 tax cut as opposed to the minority plan for a $225,000,000 reduction.

The Republican ranks, which are only one stronger than the Democratic fold in the senate held solid Tuesday in the first tests of the rate reduction battle. Democratic attempts to wipe out the admissions and club dues taxes were defeated on almost straight party vote.

By similar division, the Republicans restored to the house bill the full 10 percent rate on club dues which the house voted to cut in half. Without a dissenting voice, the senate voted to increase the exemption allowed under admission tax from tickets of 15 cents and less to admissions of $2 and less after it had refused to repeal the levy.

So close was the lineup in the votes Tuesday that a tie vote resulted on the first roll call—for repeal of the admission tax.

APPLETON NOT QUITE A CONTAGIONLESS CITY

CLAIMS AGAINST ARMOURS SETTLED

Sum of $18,000,000 Involved in Settlement of Packer's Estate

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Claims against the estate of the late J. Ogden Armour, Chicago packer, who once said he had lost a million dollars a day for more than a 100 days during the World war, Wednesday were settled in full.

His debt to Armour and Company Chicago packers, and claims of bond holders of the Sutter Basin Co., a California land reclamation project, were wiped out the books Tuesday night in a transaction which involved cash and bonds to the value of approximately $18,000,000.

Authorship of the final chapter in the career of the late Mr. Armour, one of Chicago's most picturesque financial figures, was credited to his widow and daughter, Mrs. John J. Mitchell. The terms of settlement included surrender of the beautiful Melody Farm estate, for years the pride of the family. The valuation was placed at $2,500,000.

BREMEN CREW ARRIVES AT PHILADELPHIA PORT

Philadelphia, Pa.—(AP)—The crew of the German liner Bremen arrived here Wednesday, the first step in their swing around the eastern part of the country.

The German-irish crew landed at the Philadelphia navy yard in the F-13, sister ship of the Bremen at 11:35 in the morning. From Curritts Field New York, where it had taken off at 10:40.

MINING OWNERS GAIN BY COURT'S RULINGS

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Owners of mining properties are not subject to payment of tax on the gross income of their holdings, because of gradual depletion of the property, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson has ruled.

He instructed a jury Tuesday to return a verdict awarding $118,094.22 in back taxes to Mrs. Eudora Hull Spalding, sister of Congressman Morton D. Hull, of Illinois.

Hancock, Mich.—(AP)—Lost for six days during which time members of his family and sheriff's officers have searched the countryside and dragged the bottom of Portage lake in an effort to find him, Charles Deter, 42, was found Tuesday night wandering in the streets of West Houghton in a dazed condition.

He said he could remember nothing of what occurred since Wednesday afternoon when he was last seen by his family.

The man, who recently recovered from an illness, was in a weakened condition when found.

CHINESE HALT CIVIL WAR TO SAVE COUNTRY

Critical Situation Between Japan, China in Shantung May End Internal Strife

London, Eng.—(AP)—Chang Tso-Lin, the Northern dictator, sent out a telegram to all civil and military authorities throughout China Wednesday, proclaiming a temporary cessation of the war between the Northerners and the Southerners, because of the critical situation which has arisen between Japan and China in Shantung province.

Chang's telegram declared that civil war had been in progress in China for several years, while communists had been attempting to ruin the country. He always apprehended that the war might impair China's friendly relations, and unfortunate incidents now had happened. Accordingly he issued orders to his troops to cease hostilities in order to save the country.

AMERICANS TO SAFETY

Shanghai, China.—(AP)—With a virtual state of war existing between Japan and Nationalist China, nearly all Americans who have been in the blood-bathed city of Tsinan were believed to be on their way to safety Wednesday.

Seventeen Americans, nine men, six women and two children were on a train headed for Tsinan from Tsinan. Four British, one Italian and one French citizen also were aboard the train. Japanese and Germans, however, remained in the war zone.

The Japanese refused to evacuate all consuls because of "fear that a state of war might be forced upon them at any time." The American, British and German consuls, however, decided to remain in Tsinan.

The Japanese consulate at Shanghai announced that the Nationalists had refused to comply with a Japanese ultimatum. In all save a formal declaration of war Japan therefore was at actual hostilities with Nationalist China.

The Japanese demands included, first, withdrawal of Nationalist troops to a distance of seven miles on each side of the railway between Tsinan and Tsinan; second, punishment of commanders of troops responsible for recent "murders" of Japanese at Tsinan; third, disarmament of southern troops who have been guilty of excesses at Tsinan, and fourth, cessation of demonstrations against Japanese as well as of all hostile preparations.

The Japanese stated that the Chinese opened fire promptly at the hour the ultimatum expired.

Neutral foreigners arriving at Tsinan from Tsinan were reluctant to voice an opinion as to how the fighting started or who started it. "Probably it will never be known who started the trouble," one foreigner said in summing up the situation. "The Japanese were carrying a ship on their shoulder and the Chinese knocked it off."

LLOYD ESTATE HEARING GOES TO JUDGE'S HANDS

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—Margaret Isadora Lloyd's claim to a million dollars of the wealth of Marshall Burns Lloyd the late "baby carriage king" rested Wednesday in the hands of Circuit Judge Frank B. Bell, after a two-day hearing of the suit of the woman who claims she is the legal widow of the millionaire.

A night session lasting until 11 o'clock Tuesday brought the hearing to a close after a steady flow of argument from counsel for both sides which began in the morning. Judge Bell did not expect that he could give consideration to the case for another week at least, and the date when his decision will be handed down is problematical.

Last Minute Bulletins

Kenosha, Wis.—(AP)—The state's second attempt to convict Frank Dichiaro on a murder charge for the slaying of Luigi Del Conte, opened in circuit court Wednesday. Dichiaro shot and killed Del Conte who he charged paid too much attention to Dichiaro's wife.

Dichiaro's first trial ended in dismissal of the deadlocked jury that deliberated for 69 hours to establish a new record in Wisconsin. A total of 120 jurors were examined before the jury was completed.

Fort Atkinson, Wis.—Federal agents Tuesday made their biggest haul here since the O'Donnell beer gang was captured in 1922, they said, when a large moonshine plant on the farm of Arthur Brown, two miles north-east of Fort Atkinson was seized, and three men arrested.

The agents seized the still and equipment valued at $25,000, 800 gallons of alcohol and 40,000 gallons of mash.

Genoa, Italy.—(AP)—Australia was eliminated from the 1934 Davis cup competition in the first round Wednesday by Italy when Baron De Morpurgo defeated Gerald Patterson, the veteran Australian star, in a five-set thriller, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1. This gave Italy the third and deciding victory of the series.

FLYER KILLED

Teterboro Airport. Hasbro uck Houghton, N. J.—(AP)—Lieutenant Royal V. Thomas, who recently tried for an endurance record in the Bellanca monoplane, Rellance, and Vaught weatherly named, were killed Wednesday when the plane crashed at this field.

Thomas' plane had been at the Teterboro service field for two or three days, undergoing overhauling in preparation for another endurance record attempt.

Reports of the crash said the plane was flying over the town at high speed, and suddenly went into a dive. Thomas had beaten Lindbergh's solo flight mark by two hours.

PEASANT PARTY PLANS BOYCOTT OF GOVERNMENT

Rumanian Revolters to Resist Passively Such as Non-payment of Taxes

Bucharest, Rumania.—(AP)—The Rumanian political situation hung precariously in the balance Wednesday as troops patrolled Transylvania where peasants gathered to demand a change in government.

The cabinet decided to allow no further gatherings of peasants and the newspaper Adverul said the peasants had decided to boycott the government, dealing with it only through the regency. The paper asserted that every form of passive resistance would be employed by the peasants to embarrass the government. Passive resistance would include refusal to perform any public service and non-payment of taxes.

If former Crown Prince Carol hoped that the peasants party would appeal to England protesting against his expulsion, the peasants quickly put an end to such hopes for the executive committee of the party resolved to make no appeal.

REPORT BATTLES

Unconfirmed advice from points along the Rumanian border to Vienna said several pitched battles occurred between the peasants and government troops who sought to halt the peasants' march toward Bucharest to enforce their demands that the government resign.

Minister of Interior Duca of Rumania telegraphed the Vienna bureau of the Associated Press saying "the government has the situation under complete control. Other brief assurances came from the government officials saying the country was "perfectly calm." They did not go into details and a strict censorship was being maintained.

ARREST 19 HECKLERS AS RUSSIAN LEADER TALKS

Cleveland, O.—(AP)—Nineteen friends of Soviet Russia, six of them women, were arrested on charges of creating a disturbance as a result of repeated heckling during the address Tuesday night of Dr. Paul Miliukoff, Russian minister of foreign affairs under the Kerensky regime, during the convention of the American Peace society.

The session was thrown into an uproar several times while Dr. Miliukoff, attacked the present regime in Russia.

A squad of detectives escorted Dr. Miliukoff back to his hotel Tuesday night and four of them were placed on duty in the lobby.

In his address, the doctor said the present rulers of the soviet nation are instilling a warlike disposition into the masses.

SENATOR GAINS ON FOE DURING DAY'S BATTLE

Increases Early Lead to 25,000 Votes With Less Than 1,000 Precincts Out

ROBINSON ALSO LEADS

Has Large Majority on Opponents in Struggle for Senatorial Preference

Indianapolis, Ind.—(AP)—United States Senator James E. Watson gradually pulled away from Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination in Indiana's primary election, as returns filtered in Wednesday, the veteran Hoosier alone having 155,537 to 130,505 for his opponent when 2,720 of the state's 3,610 precincts had been counted. Evans Woolen had $9,319 for the Democratic nomination in 1,564 precincts.

The senatorial contests seemed definitely settled. United States Senator Arthur R. Robinson was out in front with a majority over Arthur L. Gillion, attorney general, and Solon J. Carter, his opponents on the Republican ballots. Albert Stump, likewise had a majority over two Democratic opponents, Walter Myers and L. William Curry. The figures on these contests were far from complete.

Washington, D. C.—The race between Herbert Hoover and Senator Watson, as indicated on the basis of partial returns from the Indiana presidential preference primary, was being watched by politicians the country over Wednesday because of the effect the result is expected to have on Hoover's showing at Kansas City and on Watson's political power in his home state.

The two are fighting it out for Indiana's 33 delegates to the Republican national convention. These will be instructed in state conventions May 24 for the man who polls the most votes in the preference primary. Under the state law, the primary winner gets the solid support of the delegates until released by the candidate in whom they are pledged.

Secretary Hoover and some of his friends watched the early returns, Tuesday night. They were enough to assure them that the odds of Watson's victory on the part of the secretary's supporters, who, figuring Watson's great strength, contended Hoover had everything to gain and not much to lose in the state wide voting.

He would make a good showing at least. Should the result show this to be the case, they would practically clinch the secretary's nomination because of the effect it would have in convincing delegates thus far undecided as to preference of his running ability against solid organization opposition.

On the other hand Hoover's foes have held that if he did not make a favorable showing in Indiana it would reveal a weakness, particularly among the farm elements, and hurt his chances for the nomination. One of Hoover's opponents in the primary was the state head of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

On the Democratic side of the Indiana situation, the 30 House convention delegates to be chosen on June 6 and 7 will be instructed by Evans Wollen. His name was the only one entered in Tuesday's primary and since the state law prohibits the writing in of names the preference vote he means that the delegates selected next month must be pledged accordingly.

However, Governor Smith, leading by far in the Democratic nomination fight, may ultimately get support from the Indiana group, in the opinion of his backers. They are hopeful that the delegates pledged to Tom Taggart's candidacy will not stand out long against Smith once the trend is shown in the early balloting.

Smith's delegate total, however, will take another jump Wednesday when Michigan democrats, in convention, give him their 30 delegates. The New York governor was unopposed in the preference primary in that state in April. His total state of pledged and claimed delegates thus will be raised to 547½, counting Delaware's six chosen Tuesday as unopposed but claimed for Smith.

BIG CROWD AT LAST INDOOR CONCERT BY ARTILLERY BAND

Kaukauna Men's Chorus Pleases Big Audience With Stirring Numbers

Approximately 1,300 people from Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha and Appleton attended the last indoor band concert played by the 120th field artillery band Tuesday evening in Lawrence Memorial Chapel under the direction of Edward F. Mumm.

The overture "Rasamundo" by F. Schubert, was well received by the appreciative audience, and the comic sketch "The Prince of Plisen" pleased the older people present who recalled the old opera.

The selections sung by the Kaukauna Men's chorus under the direction of C. M. Clark were well received. The number which received the most applause was "Adoration" by Beethoven. Other numbers as "Stars of Summer Night," and "The Soldiers Chorus," were pleasing.

The "Slavonic Rhapsody" by Friedman, and the "Star Spangled Banner" concluded the concert which was considered one of the best of the winter series.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

WOMAN CAUSES ALDERMAN TO GO IN COURT

Alderman W. H. Vander Heyden, Fifth ward, pleaded not guilty to assault and battery before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday afternoon and the case was held open for several days. Bonds of $100 were furnished by the alderman, arrested on complaint of Elizabeth Wachter, a neighbor.

Mrs. Wachter complained Vander Heyden grasped her by the back of the neck and shoved her forward so violently she almost fell down. The alleged assault followed an argument over a strip of land between the Vander Heyden and the Wachter homes, to which both families claim title. Alderman Vander Heyden is alleged to have ordered Mrs. Wachter from the land and when she refused to move he is accused of pushing her.

CITY'S BIRTH RATE RUNNING AWAY FROM NUMBER OF DEATHS

New Chamber of Commerce
Figures Show Appleton to Be a Prosperous City

The birth rate in Appleton has shown a remarkable increase during the past year while the death rate has lagged far behind, according to new figures gathered by the chamber of commerce. The statistics show the birth rate is 29.7 per thousand during the year as compared to 19.5 the previous year while the death rate is 13.5 per thousand and 12.5 the year before.

Further figures show that the four banks and one trust company have deposits of 12 million dollars and annual clearings of approximately $113,617.00. The retail establishments were numbered at 220, exclusive of garages. The number of volumes listed at the two libraries is 90,000 and there were 6,900 telephones with a total of about 44,000 calls per day.

It is shown that manufacturers give employment to 5,000 persons and that paper mills alone produced products valued at 20 million dollars. There are 10 jobbing and wholesale houses and 38 manufacturing establishments. While there are 67.07 miles of water mains, the total length of the sanitary sewer system was not far behind—67 miles to be exact.

Other figures reveal that there were 3,400 home owners, 27 miles of paved streets, 21 churches and 142 acres of public parks. There are 13 public and 7 parochial schools, the assessed valuation of the city is $31,000,000 and the municipally owned pumping plant has a capacity of 10 million gallons of water daily.

ONLY TWO CASES OF HOOKEY DURING APRIL

And Both of Them Were Returned to Classes by Truant
Officer, He Says

Either Appleton school children aren't regular "kids" or they like school much better than youngsters of former days because there were only two truants among all the city's school children last month. In both cases the children were returned to school.

The report of J. G. Pfeil, truant officer shows 70 cases of absent students investigated. Truancy was listed as the cause in two cases, parental neglect in 26 cases and miscellaneous causes in 32 cases. Fifty of the absentees were boys.

The truant officer made 29 calls at various schools, notified seven parents that the law was being violated by children who remained away from school, returned two children to school, and made 152 calls to investigate. Only one case was taken before a court.

JUDGE LEVIES FINE OF $5 FOR LACK OF LICENSE TO DRIVE

The first fine for driving an automobile without an operator's license assessed in Outagamie county this year, was levied by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Thursday morning when Robert Ferguson, 410 W. Foster-st., pleaded guilty. He paid a fine of $5 and costs. Ferguson was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Gus Hersekorn Tuesday morning.

7 WISCONSIN CITIES SHOW BUILDING GAIN

Appleton Among Those Showing Increase Over
March of Last Year

Appleton was one of seven Wisconsin cities to show an increase in building activities in March, as compared with the same period a year ago, according to the national monthly building survey of the S. W. Straus company. Permits for building here last month totaled $361,135 as compared with $125,525 for the same month the year previous. Estimated cost of building in the state during the month was about $2,600,000 less than for the year previous. In 1928 building costs were estimated at $5,062,531 as compared with $5,829,405 for 1927. Cities showing an increase last month were Appleton, Eau Claire, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Superior, Waukesha and Whitefish Bay.

Only about 4400 of several millions of stars can be seen by the naked eye.

PUREBRED STOCKMEN GOING TO CONVENTION

Several members of the Outagamie-Holstein Friesian association are expected to attend the forty-third annual convention of the Holstein-Friesian association of America at Milwaukee from June 4 to 8. Convention headquarters will be at headquarters. The ninth cooperative national sale is to be held in conjunction with the convention. Seventy-five head of registered cattle are to be sold at this sale.

41% MORE DUNLOPS bought

"WHAT OF IT?... Even if American motorists did buy 41% more Dunlops during this April than last April.... what does that mean to me?"

This would not mean so much if it were not for this: Last year, American motorists bought 42.1% more Dunlops than the year before.

When a 41% gain in public preference is added to a previous 42% gain, there can be but one explanation:

Dunlops are better tires. And why shouldn't they be better?...

40 years' experience.... $195,000,000 resources.... vast rubber plantations.... and great spinning mills, Dunlop should make the world's best tire.

"More mileage".... "greater safety".... "better looks".... "easier riding".... and "lower cost" — that's what the millions of Dunlop users are telling their friends about Dunlops.

Now there are over 26,000,000 Dunlops in service. They are your guarantee that Dunlops will pay on your car.

Annual Conference Starts at 6 O'clock in the Morning
With Registration

Neenah—The annual conference of Lutheran Women's Federation will be held here Thursday, starting at 6 o'clock in the morning with registration at Immanuel Lutheran church. The conference program will begin at 10 o'clock and will be led by the Rev. W. Wetzel, president of the pastoral circuit. Following the greetings and welcoming the delegation to the city by Mayor George E. Sande and Mrs. H. A. Blohm, president of the federation, the delegates will settle down to the annual business session at 10:30. The president's secretary's and Treasurer's annual report will be given and nominations for officers to be elected for next year will be in order. Resolutions will be introduced followed at 11 o'clock by an address on the subject of "Spiritualizing the Home," led by Mrs. E. Grauer, national membership and fellowship chairman. This will be followed by community singing and dinner.

The afternoon session will start at 2 o'clock with devotionals led by the Rev. E. Heile, followed by an address on the subject "Pension Fund Campaign," by Mr. Otto E. Lay of Kaukauna. An address and open forum on the subject "Committee at Work," led by Mrs. S. P. Ashbrook, national service chairman. The conference will close with a business session at which officers will be elected and the closing exercises conducted followed by a supper.

BUILD CEMENT COURTS
AT NEENAH CITY PARK

Neenah—Work will be started Monday in constructing two new cement tennis courts at Columbia park to take place of the two clay courts which have been in use for many years. The new courts will be located at the west end of the park on the E. Columbia side. The first court will be completed by Saturday and the second by Sunday. The new courts will be the last at that park before the park board will start its $5,000 improvements, among which is to be the planting of shrubbery and the erection of a new bandstand and laying out of two baseball diamonds.

CHURCH CLUB GOING IN FOR ATHLETICS

Neenah—The Methodist Fraternity club is going in for athletics this summer, according to arrangements made by committees appointed to draft plans for activities. Two new horse shoe pitching courts have been constructed on the west side of the church gymnasium and a series of tournaments is being arranged; a volleyball league will be organized and application will be made to enter a softball team in one of the playground leagues. The promotion of athletics among the church and Sunday school members was planned during the winter at the bi-monthly meetings of the club.

YOUTH INJURED WHEN HE FALLS ON IRON POST

Neenah—Howard Kuhr, 14, received painful injuries Wednesday morning when he fell onto a "no parking" sign of which the sign post had been removed leaving only the iron post sticking up out of the ground near the Island hotel. A bad gash cut in his left thigh necessitated several stitches to close.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight in east and central portion; cooler Thursday in west and central portion.

GENERAL WEATHER

The pressure is low over the plain states and southern Rocky Mountain region this morning, with a low center over Manitoba. It is not producing much precipitation yet but is accompanied by high temperatures from the Rocky Mountain region to the Mississippi. Its influence on this section as it moves eastward probably will consist of moderately high temperatures tonight and Thursday, with fresh southwesterly wind and some cloudiness.

THEATRE SOON WILL BE ERECTED ON SITE
OF LANDGRAF HOTEL

Milwaukee Company Expects to Construct $225,000 Recreation Building

Menasha—A new recreation building costing approximately $225,000 will in all probability replace the Landgraf hotel, one of the oldest landmarks of the city, within the next few months. It will be built by Werwath company of Milwaukee, designers and builders, and will contain a modern theatre with a seating capacity of 1,000 and equipment for motion pictures and road shows; seven stores on the first floor; seven darts on upper floors and twelve bowling alleys in the basement.

H. D. Werwath, president of the company, was in Menasha Tuesday, consulting Mayor Walter E. Held who has been furthering the project for several weeks. He stated to know if there was anything to prevent his company from wrecking the present building within the next two or three weeks if his company decided to get busy at once and was assured there was not and that he could receive the cooperation of the city. He also indicated the names of those engaged in that line of work and appeared anxious to get construction work under way at an early date. So far as possible the work will be done by Menasha workmen, he said. The structure will be known as Menasha Recreation building, according to Mr. Werwath.

MENASHA AUTO FIRM
CLAIMS BANKRUPTCY

Claims Affairs Are So Involved That No Accurate
Accounting Is Possible

Menasha—The petition in bankruptcy of J. J. Baranowski of Oshkosh, who, with Ray W. Keefe and Paul Laemmrich, Menasha, operated the Valley Auto company at Menasha, has been referred to Charles H. Forward, referee in bankruptcy, by Judge Ferdinand Geiger of Milwaukee.

The schedule states that he owes nothing outside of what liability might attach by reason of his connection with the Valley Auto company, and it is due to the financial condition of that company's affairs that the petition is filed. The schedule shows real estate, $500; stocks and securities, $1,750; unassigned accounts owing Valley Auto company, $389; the accounts assigned as security to various finance companies, $13,342.70. The total liabilities shown as $5,450 of which amount $3,950 is secured.

Mr. Baranowski states in his petition that the company's affairs are so involved that it is impossible to give an accurate detailed statement, but in his opinion it is doubtful that the assets of the Valley Auto company will be sufficient to pay the debts of that partnership.

MENASHA MERCHANTS
FIX BARGAIN DATES

Menasha—Friday and Saturday, May 18 and 19, were definitely selected for the annual bargain day dates at the meeting of merchants at the Elks club Tuesday evening. Menasha high school band will furnish the music for Friday, but because it would attend the state band contest at Waupun Saturday it was decided to engage the Oshkosh Normal school band for that day. Other attractions will be arranged by the program committee. The merchants decided to dispense with all prizes this year. More than 25 business places will cooperate in offering special inducements to their patrons on the days stated.

MENASHA SCHOOL BAND
ENTERED IN TOURNEY

Menasha—The annual state band tournament will be held at Waupun on Saturday, May 18 and 19, and 51 bands and over 2,000 band students will be present. Each band is divided into four classes. Class A designates a band which had 36 months and over experience; Class B, 24 months to 36 months; Class C, 12 to 24 months; and Class D, 0 to 12 months. Menasha high school band, in Class C with an average of 13.9 months experience, has 25 competitors and will play Saturday, May 19.

The Menasha musicians will leave for Waupun Saturday morning in two busses accompanied by Superintendent J. E. Kitowski, Band Director L. E. Kraft, and members of the faculty.

Planes of the National Air Transport now fly approximately 5800 miles every 24 hours of which about 3300 miles are flown at night.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

It is difficult to say exactly what advice an experienced Bridge player would give if he were asked to make just one brief statement, limited to question of play for the benefit of the novice. Probably he could not do better than use the four words: "Avoid opening new suits." After a suit has been opened, it should be continued by the player who wins the first trick unless some unusual development makes a shift clearly advisable. Shifting to a suit of which the high-card strength is divided between the opposing sides, probably will cost a trick; to lead from any suit which is not headed by Ace-King or a high three-card head sequence (such as King-Queen-Jack or Queen-Jack-Ten) is usually disadvantageous and, as the most advantageous suit presumably was opened in the first place, a shift is likely to result in the opening of a suit subject to one or both of the above disadvantages. The lead of the partner has been made with some object, so it should be returned except when the holding of Dummy or some other development renders such action plainly inadvisable.

The initial leader has to open some suit; perhaps his first lead proved to be a winning card and the completion of the trick discloses that particular lead has been advantageous to Declarer; but that situation cannot then be altered. For him to another suit, unless the play of his partner or the holding of the Dummy clearly indicates that he should, is apt to increase Declarer's advantage—not to diminish it.

Shifting suits and swapping horses while crossing a stream are enterprises which the same general advice is applicable. Don't. The advice to continue the initial suit rather than pick a new one applies with equal force whether the contract is a trump or a No Trump; except that there are two situations to which the advice does not apply.

(1) When a player who has named a suit during the auction (the opponent on his right having secured the contract) becomes the initial leader and opens some other suit he plainly wants his own suit led toward him, and partner—winning the first trick—generally should return the suit named, not the one led. (2) When the partner of the initial leader against a No Trump can tell from the card led that the leader held exactly four, and sees only four more of the suit in his own hand and Dummy, he knows that Closed Hand has five. Should the leader's partner win the first trick, he should not return that suit because he can see that it really is Declarer's suit—not the leader's—and that nothing would please Declarer or better than to have it continued.

When a Dealer has bid No Trump, the next player may find himself with sufficient strength in one suit, or divided between two, to warrant the expectation of saving game if the No Trump be played; or of making his contract if he bid two of his best suit. Under such conditions he should not bid unless convinced that his bid will not guide the other side out of their No Trump into a suit declaration with which they will score game. Even when his best suit is a Major and he has such strength in the other are many hands which have strength enough for a bid but not enough for a double, and others which have strength enough for a double but not length enough for a bid. Therefore, whether to bid, double or pass is a question for which it is difficult to furnish any general answer. It must be left largely to the judgement of the player who, in reaching his determination, should realize that ten mistakes are made by bidding a suit. Second Hand over a No Trump, to every one that is made by passing; and that doubles should not be made unless the doubling hand contains at least five high cards that probably will take tricks.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

LABOR SITUATION RELIEVED BY START OF SPRING BUILDING

Youngsters Lose No Time in Seeking Employment During Summer Months

Beginning of construction work in Appleton and vicinity has somewhat relieved the labor situation and the number of men seeking employment is growing smaller every day, according to employment managers of mills in Appleton, Kimberly, Combined Locks and Kaukauna.

While the number of men looking for work is decreasing there is almost a proportionate increase in the number of boys and young men who want work for the summer. They are seeking work now so that they needn't be idle during the summer months, one employment manager said.

None of the mills are planning construction work, it was learned from the employment managers, so there will be no big demand for laborers at these places. One mill, the Kimberly-Clark Paper company plant at Kimberly, is "laying off" some of the men on the big construction crew which it has maintained for some months. According to E. W. Krueger, employment manager at that mill, there are still many men seeking work at his plant.

The annual exodus of men who leave inside jobs to secure outside work for the summer has not yet started, the employment managers say. This factor is a negligible one, however, and makes little difference in the labor situation. J. C. Borland, employment manager of the Fox River Paper company, Appleton, says the labor situation is clearing up and the number of men seeking work is gradually growing smaller with the resumption of construction activities. W. F. Ashe, employment manager at Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, Kaukauna, also says he has been receiving fewer applications for work recently.

At the Combined Locks Paper company, Combined Locks, Paul Smith, general manager, says the labor turnover is very small. Few of his men are quitting and as there is no construction work contemplated, he is not in need of any more men.

W. E. Tamm, Northern Boiler and Structural Iron Works, Appleton, says his plant needs no men, skilled or unskilled.

OPEN SEWER BIDS AT THURSDAY MEETING

Sewer bids received by the city clerk up to noon Tuesday and those received Thursday noon will be opened by the board of public works at a meeting Thursday afternoon. Bids received Tuesday noon were for sewers on N. Story-st from W. Packard to W. Harris-st, E. John-st from S. River-st to a point 575 feet east of Toluah-st, W. Second-st from S. Bounds-st across the Chicago and Northwestern railway tracks and for a storm sewer on W. Oklahoma, N. Bennett, and W. Spring-sts.

Bids to be received Thursday are for sewers on W. Spring-st from N. Division-st to N. Clark-st, and on Carpenter-st from S. River-st to the Fox river.

The trip was made in the "Pride of Appleton" airplane owned by the North American Airways company of

SPEAKERS COMING FOR CONTEST HERE

Donald MacMahon-Will Represent Appleton High School Friday Evening

Donald MacMahon will represent Appleton high school in the Fox river valley extemporaneous contest at 2:30 Friday afternoon in the auditorium of the senior high school.

Schools in the contest are East Green Bay, West Green Bay, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Marinette, Oconto, Sheboygan, and Appleton. Because of the illness of the Manitowoc contestant, that school will not be represented.

First, second and third place medals will be awarded.

Each contestant will draw a topic 1:15 Friday afternoon, after which he will retire to a private room to prepare the subject without help.

After the contest, the domestic science department of the school will serve a luncheon to the visiting contestants, principals and coaches.

WINCHESTER PRODUCTS TO BE DISPLAYED HERE

Winchester stock holding agents and their employees in cities of the Fox River valley are expected to attend the display of Winchester products at the Conway hotel from 9 o'clock in the morning Thursday until 9 o'clock in the evening. The display is to be under the auspices of the A. Galpin Sons Hardware company.

Routine business will be discussed. The display is not to be opened to the public, it was announced Tuesday morning.

RUSHING WORK ON NEW FREIGHT DEPOT

Expect Steel Frame Will Be Completed by the End of This Week

Work on the new Chicago and Northwestern railway freight depot being built at the intersection of W. Franklin and N. Superior-sts by the Johnson Construction company, Chicago, is progressing rapidly since the foundation was laid.

Work was started Tuesday on freight platform. Approximately 60 concrete piers have been set up for the platform which is to be 79 feet long, 38 feet wide at the east end and 16 feet wide at the west end. Heavy timbers are being laid on the piers.

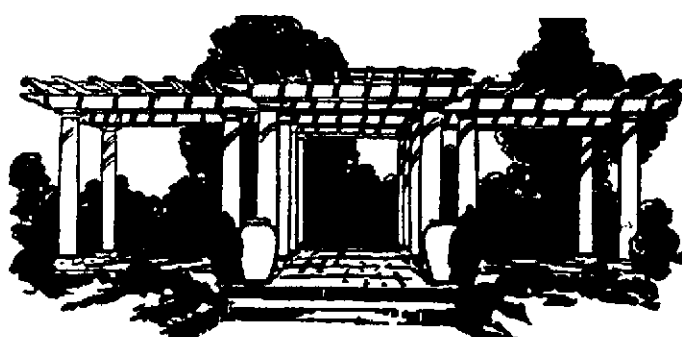

Steel work is being joined for the general frame of the depot and it is expected the frame will be completed at the end of the week.

Workmen are digging the basement of the office section of the depot which is to be a two story structure of fire proof face brick. Much difficulty is being encountered by the excavators in digging. Old iron hoops, tin cans and other rubbish which was buried there years ago when the property was used as a dumping ground are being dug up.

WILL MR. LITTLETON EXPLAIN?

The Milwaukee Journal wants an explanation from Martin W. Littleton, attorney for Harry F. Sinclair. It has asked for the explanation on several occasions and listened in vain for an answer but the Journal is persistent. Would there be more with the same sort of persistence in the same sort of matters.

Mr. Littleton made the following opening statement to the first Sinclair jury, the one that was dismissed because of the tampering process:

"Nothing will appear in the evidence to indicate Mr. Sinclair had the slightest interest in the Continental Trading Company. He never had a bond that the company had and it will be made clear he never had anything to do with a bond of the description mentioned by the government, and he never passed a bond to Fall of anyone in behalf of Fall."

Every fact set up in that statement was afterwards conclusively proven to be false. Did not Littleton know these facts were false when he stated them? And did he not state them merely in the supposed security of legal objections which he thought were sound but in which his judgment and subsequent facts were his undoing?

At the time he made the statement it looked as though he could get by with it, as neither Sinclair nor Fall could be forced to take the stand, and Fall's son-in-law who received and passed the bonds for Sinclair seemingly had a perfect right to close his mouth on the old constitutional objection "that an answer would tend to incriminate me." But the constitutional objection was removed by shortening the statute of limitations and the evidence came forth, which proved Mr. Littleton's statement entirely untrue.

When Senator Walsh thereafter asked "Sinclair how Littleton ever came to make such a statement the only answer he could get was the innocent smiling response: "All I have to say is that it was the opening statement of my counsel."

And so the buck is passed back and forth. But the Journal wants to know whether or not this "isn't a pertinent question for the American Bar Association to consider," whether a man occupying a leading position at the bar, "an officer of the court," can be a party to such a misleading practice and get away with it. Isn't Mr. Littleton one of those who moralizes publicly upon the high standards of the profession, standards that require that such practices shall cease? And of what use is it to permit men in his position to go unscathed while the law properly punishes some pallid little shyster trying to beat an ambulance to the operating table?

USE OF CASH DECLINES

The increased use of checks continues to cut the demand for cash and much less coin, both gold and silver, is now used. This is very apparent in the comparison of the number of silver dollars, which in 1922 were coined to the amount of $84,275,000, and in 1927 only to the amount of $4,456,900. In 1853, there were minted $4,000,000 in one dollar gold pieces, but the gold dollar as a coin has some time passed into history. Gold pieces of all denominations coined last year amounted in value to only $83,955,000, which was less than half the amount coined in 1926.

It might be argued that the great decline in the use of coins is simply an indication of the increased popularity of paper money, but while bills have become more popular, because more convenient, it does not account for the great decrease in the use of coins. The real reason of the decrease is the growing popularity of the use of checks.

The enormous prosperity of this country is responsible for the unprecedented number of people who have money to deposit in banks, and who find it not only more convenient but much safer to pay by check which at once becomes both a means of payment and a receipt for the same. Many other great advantages of paying by check recommend it to general use, and, beyond a doubt, the popularity of this method will continue to increase as the prosperity of the country continues to increase and greater numbers become depositors in the banks and able to avail themselves of the convenience. In fact, the vast volume of business transacted today would be greatly hampered were it necessary to conduct it to any great extent by the handling of real money.

THE CRIPPLE'S SUCCESS

The Louisville Courier-Journal contained recently the remarkable story of one of its citizens who had lately died, C. L. Cook, a hopeless cripple from childhood with muscular-stagnation.

Cook had poverty to face besides, yet, with amazing perseverance, he secured an education and developed the qualities in him that strove for expression. He became an artist, an economist, an inventor and finally an industrialist, and all of the while living in a wheel-chair. With hands that were stunted in their growth and muscular power he, nevertheless, developed upon canvas creditable and beautiful paintings. With a mind that worked ceaselessly he worked out and invented the metallic packing for marine engines so much used during the war and he pushed this mechanical ability along the lines of other inventions and in full competition, and yet successfully, with those who had so much better advantages in life.

Of course it takes an indomitable will to accomplish such success with all the barriers and handicaps with which this man was afflicted, yet the will is a thing that may be trained to serve the purpose, if one will go through the difficulties of the training process. It was natural that a man so afflicted should have his fancy drawn to young and robust men and Cook's life was filled with the help and encouragement he gave to others. To crown it all the Courier-Journal says that never in his life did he permit his afflictions to depress and retard him nor did he suggest to those he met that he felt his lot to be a piteous one. Seemingly he made up his mind to make the most of life as it was given him and who could do any better?

WILD GEESSE

Jack Miner, the elderly Canadian naturalist who seems to have adopted all the wild geese on this continent, has been busy lately as his wards move northward. A newspaper man visiting his place in the woods near Kingsville, Ont., found him playing host to 5,000 geese. He had unloaded four wagons full of shelled corn and scattered it around his North pond for the hungry birds. That was part of a consignment of 900 bushels he had just imported from Chicago.

It is due to such ministrations, more than any other factor, that the wild goose has not already been exterminated, along with the passenger pigeon and other noble game birds. Miner looks after the swans, too, which may be less valuable intrinsically, but are more in need of friends, because they are nearer extinction.

Miner is no wealthy philanthropist. Of the $6,000 a year it costs him to feed the wild geese and preserve the species, the Canadian government gives him $1,150 and he raises the rest by public lectures.

PUPILS LIKE SCHOOL NOW

In the old days it was generally believed that children had to be forced to go to school. Probably it was true in many cases: schools were not always all they might have been, and there was generally a great deal that the average school teacher did not know about handling children.

Today, however, according to the Federal Bureau of Education, all of this has changed. The school is a magnet now, especially in the big cities. It has been made interesting: the child finds it is actually good fun to learn things.

This represents a great advance. For all our bragging about the old-fashioned "little red schoolhouse," a lot of people entered adult life woefully uneducated. When you can make study an interesting game, you can transmit a much better education.

Two thousand pigeons which frequent the steps of St. Basil's Cathedral and other buildings in London will be trapped and killed in accordance with an order of the city officials.

The portrait of Caterina Cornaro, Queen of Cyprus in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, which is attributed to the School of Bellini, has just been acquired by Sir Joseph Duveen of England.

Cars specially constructed for the use of invalids will be added to some of the trains of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Railway, providing an innovation in railroad travel.

Two companies interested in the Namaqualand diamond fields are said to have offered the British government $25,000,000 for a strip of Crown land.

BRIEF BIOGRAPHY OF A C. C.

This is an outline of the life of a consumer of cigarettes.

CHAPTER I.
Born of poor but careless parents. Youngster smart as a whip. One day neighbor met his climbing over orchard fence and said "Why, Archie."

CHAPTER II.
Archie did fairly well in high school. Even tried to make the football and track teams, but sort of lost interest. Still he was popular at the dances for a year or so. There was just one escapade that nearly brought shame.

CHAPTER III.
Having spent 4 1/2 years of the old man's savings and a first mortgage in college, Archie couldn't decide just what he intended to do in life. Every-body, perhaps. He had hopes of a nice position.

CHAPTER IV.
How in the name of heaven he managed to graduate, none of his classmates could figure out. They assumed he must have gotten something on old Larry Bool whose o. k. was indispensable for a passing mark in.

CHAPTER V.
Dr. Archie Cuttler, the well known specialist was called to this place in consultation with local physicians on the case of . . . is doing as well as can be expected.

CHAPTER VI.
The entire community is mourning . . . children asking their mothers why "my doctor" hasn't come, and mothers checking back . . . fathers wondering whether they'll have to pay up right away or . . .

CHAPTER VII.
Vast concourse—apparently everybody that owed him anything—attended obsequies. Beloved physician had been apparently in his usual hearty health up to Thursday night. Friends who had talked with him at the Hootch club declared he was the life of the . . .

CHAPTER VIII.
Archie always smoked two packs of Cornstabs a day. He could scarcely finish an appendectomy at one sitting but generally made a two stage affair of it, with the patient's condition warranted, with a fag between. It seemed to steady his nerves.

CHAPTER IX.
Ho, hum. Forty-four is early. Must you go so soon? And with the flu? Well, after all it pays a man to keep a good heart—it comes in handy when he has a little battle to fight.

CHAPTER X.
Funny, so many bright promising young men peter out at forty odd. Bum parts. Kidneys break down. "Overwork." Tobacco hogs. Cardiovascular degeneration inhaled in small dainty doses.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Be Yourself
This is a slang phrase but can anyone improve on it? It is a fine motto for life to follow in response. It is the best of reasons for beginning with the first personal pronoun if that happens to be the natural way to begin what one has to say. I would commend this motto to my correspondents particularly. This is a personal health service. Be yourself when you write for my opinion, information or advice, and you will assure my best consideration.

Sugar Is Sugar
Kindly tell me if lacto dextrine and sugar of milk is the same thing, or if not, what particular kind of sugar is best for modifying milk for my baby. (P. L. M.)

Answer—No, they are different sugars. For an infant less than 4 months old sugar of milk (lactose) is the best, in my opinion. After the fourth month I believe ordinary cane sugar, or corn syrup (glucose) is satisfactory in every respect.

Herpes on Face
Our daughter, aged 7 years, had an infection on her cheek which the family doctor called herpes zoster. He said it will be cleared up in a few days, but there is no way to prevent it from recurring. My wife thinks we ought to have a skin specialist, though I believe, the family doctor is correct. Can you settle the argument for us? (S. E. A.)

Answer—I think the family doctor is correct. From experience I believe the best of skin specialists have no way to prevent recurrence of herpes.

Querc Hygiene
My hygiene teacher says that students should avoid eating eggs as they are more harmful than beneficial, and that students should avoid eating any food that has been fried, as fried food is not easily digested and causes various poisonous toxins in the system. (T. W.)

Answer—I think students should eat eggs when eggs are on the menu, and I believe eggs are more beneficial and less harmful. The prejudice against fried food is antiquated and the notion that it doesn't digest as readily as food cooked any other way is exploded. This implies that your hygiene teacher must be a laipaloposa, and I do not deny the implication.

Cream Is Fattening
If I drink one pint of pure cream in today every day will it make me fat? Will it cause eruption of the skin. (C. B. F.)

Answer—It will help make you fat. It will cause no eruptions. (Copyright John F. Dille company.)

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, May 13, 1903

The senate of the state legislature by a vote of 20 to 10 had indefinitely postponed the anti-cigarette bill.

The corn crop of Outagamie county had been partially ruined the past two years by early frosts. This year the farmers were planting their corn about two weeks earlier.

At a recent meeting of the Deborah Rebekah lodge the following delegates were chosen to represent the organization at the state assembly to be held at Eau Claire in June. Mrs. C. A. Pardee, George Wright, Mrs. F. T. Peterson, Mrs. C. H. Vinal, Mrs. A. J. Kreiss, Mrs. D. G. Stove and Mrs. J. Finkel.

At the meeting of the Foresters the previous night, plans were made to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the order. The meeting was adjourned until the following Friday when E. C. Otto was to talk on municipal ownership.

TEN YEARS AGO

Wednesday, May 8, 1918

National army mobilizations by June 1, one year from the first registration, were to total 1,247,000 men, according to Provost Marshal General Crowder's announcement that day.

Four times as much foreign reserve currency had been issued in the preceding ten months as in the same period of time the year before.

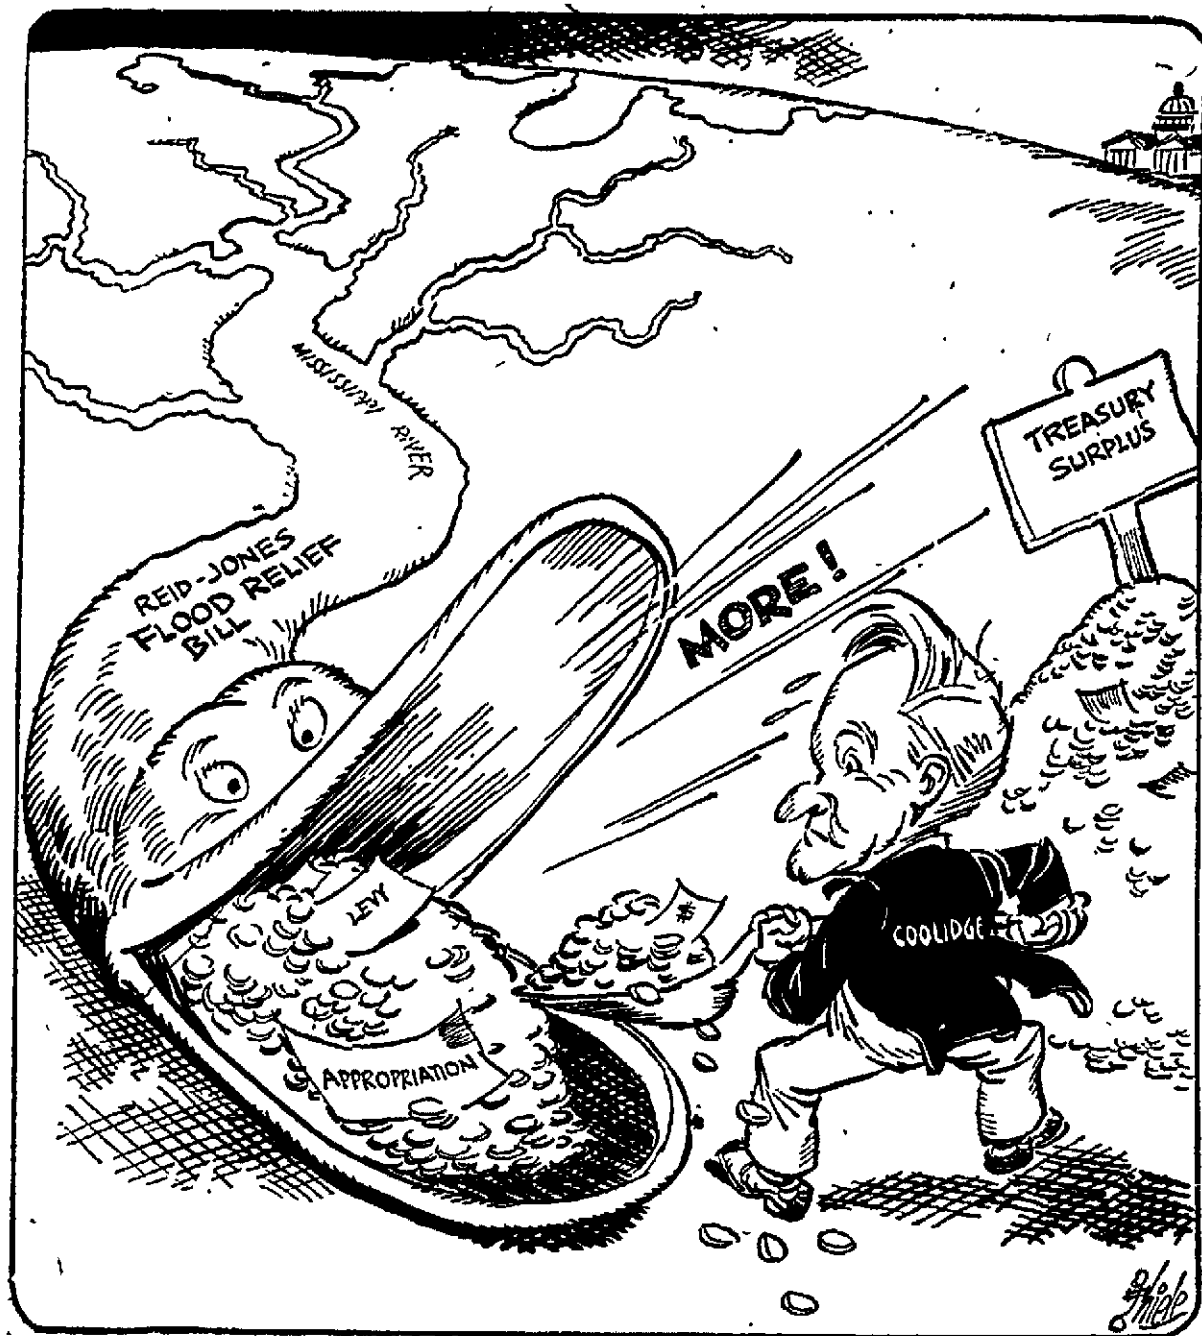

Judge Landis scored the I. W. W. for using methods which he said tended to prove the charges of sabotage brought against the organization.

Miss Eleanor Keller entertained 14 friends the previous evening at her home at 416 State-st. Alvin Falk was re-elected president of the Glendale club the previous evening at the home of Vilas Glenn. Reno Doerfler was elected secretary treasurer and Lloyd Sandborn reporter.

Edward C. Hilbert resigned his position as assistant cashier at the Citizens National bank the previous Saturday and enlisted in the navy.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

BUSINESS AND ADVENTURE

People who are always comparing the present with the past to the disadvantage of the former are in the habit of asserting that there is no longer any such thing as disinterested adventures. When some one swears the English channel it is with the hope of vaudeville contracts. When a flyer crosses the ocean the lure of the dollar is back of it. There is always money in the background, we are told.

It was not always thus, they say. In the old days men went after adventure for the love of it. There were no vaudeville contracts, no movie engagements. The great and glorious adventures were men of the high heart, the noble aspiration.

All sounds beautiful, but I am always suspicious of theories that sound too good. They are seldom true. High flown rhetoric usually hides prosaic, even sordid facts. When the adjectives are too enthusiastic, watch out for the nigger in the woodpile.

A few weeks ago Llewellyn Powys published the biography of one of the greatest heroes of romance and adventure even in the age of daring deeds, the age of Elizabeth. This hero was Henry Hudson, after whom the Hudson river was named. Every schoolboy knows how he sailed boldly to the American coast in a little vessel the size of a yacht, how he tried to find the northwest passage to the Orient, how he stumbled upon the great river that bears his name.

Here was a hero of romance, a knight of adventure. No hint in the school books that his adventure was a matter of business for himself as well as for those who sent him. Doubtless Mayor Thompson would call it unpatriotic to suggest that Hudson and his backers were following an economic urge, but unfortunately the facts make it necessary to assert this.

There was a group of shrewd business men in the Netherlands under the aegis of the East India company, who had a government monopoly on the oriental trade. They were afraid some one would find a short water route to China and thus establish a competition with their business that would cut down their profits. It took their vessels about two years to make the trip and return. Obviously if some one should discover the legendary short route the Dutch company's captains could not compete with them.

Henry Hudson was about the most famous explorer of his time by reason of two trips that he made to the arctic regions with the idea of sailing across the pole and thus finding the short route. He had not succeeded but the shrewd Dutchmen thought he might. So they forestalled possible competition by hiring him. They made a formal contract with Hudson in which they agreed to fit him out with a vessel and crew and provisions, to employ him a salary while in their employ. On his part Hudson agreed to make an attempt to discover the short passage to the Orient. When it was found the Dutch company would control it. Their profits would increase enormously and Hudson would share in them.

That was the background of Hudson's glorious adventure. He never did find the passage he was looking for. Instead of being a mere strip of land, as he thought, the American continent proved to be thousands of miles wide. When Hudson sailed up the Hudson river he expected at any moment to come out into the Pacific ocean, but finally when he had reached the site of what is now the city of Albany he had to abandon the idea.

Llewellyn Powys in his biography does not unduly emphasize the economic background of the Hudson adventure. He merely presents the facts as they are found in the record, but the fact stands out that these Mayor Thompson would call it unpatriotic to suggest that Hudson and his backers were following an economic urge, but unfortunately the facts make it necessary to assert this.

DOCTORS DRAW UP RULES

FOR BATHERS' SAFETY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth of a series of articles on healthful swimming. Tomorrow Beach control.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHEBIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, The Health Magazine

The committee on control of swimming pools appointed by the section on diseases of the nose and throat of the American Medical Association provided, in addition to the standard notice to be posted in swimming pools, a list of rules for the sanitation and safety of swimming pools, which applies to a scientific check on the rules are:

All swimming pools are to be maintained with a practical minimum amount of contamination. There shall be not more than 1,000 colonies of bacteria per cubic centimeter of standard agar culture medium on which applied to a scientific check on the twenty-four hours at 37 degrees F. The B coli content shall be such that gas is produced in not more than one and a half of standard lactose broth cultures after incubation for twenty-four hours with 1 cc. of water. (This applies to a scientific check on the number of germs in the water.)

Water in the pool shall at all times of use be sufficiently transparent, under existing lighting conditions, that is when the water surface is not excessively agitated by bathers, a person can stand at the side of the pool and see the bottom distinctly where the depth of water is 6 feet or less. Facilities for adequate protection of the pool water against unnecessary sputum contamination by bathers shall be provided.

All persons known to be or suspected of being affected with infectious diseases shall be excluded from the pool.

Contamination of the pool resulting from lack of personal cleanliness of bathers shall be maintained at a minimum.

Construction and appliances shall be such as to reduce to a practical minimum the danger of drowning and of injury to bathers from falls or collisions.

Dressing rooms, hallways, toilet rooms, shower rooms and other places to which patrons of a bath house have access shall be kept clean and well ventilated at all times.

Bathing suits, and towels, when distributed to bathers by the pool management, shall be clean and free from excessive bacterial contamination.

The management of the pool shall have printed and posted in conspicuous places about the establishment notices plainly informing patrons of the requirements to which they are subject in the maintenance of a safe and sanitary pool. A form of notice is suggested to pool operators; it should be so placed that all bathers cannot fail to read it before entering the pool.

In addition to these rules some recommend that no person be permitted to enter the pool within one hour after eating. Some demand that every bather be medically examined before being granted the use of the pool and at fairly frequent intervals thereafter.

The Question Box

Information on almost any subject can be secured by sending questions to the Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director Washington D. C. The bureau does not answer questions pertaining to medicine nor does it express opinions on the merits of stocks and bonds. Send a 2-cent stamp or a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your question.

Q. When were political conventions first held in this country? W. D.

A. State conventions were first held about 1825, although informal conventions of party leaders had been held by the Federalists prior to that time. The Republicans held their last legislative caucus in 1824.

Q. How many proposed amendments have been introduced in Congress since 1789. A great many amendments have been proposed since they die a natural death. Mr. Taylor says that 24 amendments to the Constitution have been submitted to the States for ratification since 1776. Of these, nineteen have been duly ratified, and are now part of the Constitution. The proposed amendments to the Constitution failed of ratification and the Child Labor Amendment is now before the States.

Q. How wide was the Mississippi River in the early days? J. A.

A. There was great range in the width of the Mississippi at the time of the discovery of this country. Prior Lake Itasca to Minneapolis the natural width increased from less than 50 feet to more than 400 feet at ordinary stages. Below Cairo the natural low water width is from 1000 to 7500 feet; the bank-full width 2000 to 15,000 feet.

Q. When should hickory nuts and chestnuts be planted? C. B.

A. Hickory nuts and chestnuts that are to be planted should be stored in cool, moist sand during the winter and planted in the spring. Only 50 to 75 per cent of the nuts will sprout.

Q. What part of the weight of a person's body is blood? W. S. D.

A. The quantity of blood in the normal human body is 7.7 per cent of the body weight.

Q. How many troops have we in Nicaragua? F. S.

A. There are in Nicaragua at the present time approximately 3500 marines. There are no American soldiers in Nicaragua.

Q. Were any changes made in the "Spirit of St. Louis" in preparation for the Central American flight? S. M. C.

A. Two important changes in the plane had been made: the original landing wheels were replaced by larger ones, and another altimeter was added to the instrument board.

Q. How much does it cost to get an automobile ready for export? A. R. S.

A. It costs an average of $50 to box an automobile for export.

Q. Was Madagascar ever a part of Africa? A. S. D.

A. Geologists believe that Madagascar, and a large portion of central Africa were probably united with India in the late carboniferous times by an easterly land extension through the area now occupied by the Indian Ocean.

Q. When will the Japanese cherry trees in Washington, D. C., be in bloom? J. P. F.

A. The single cherry blossoms usually bloom between April 1st and April 15th and last about ten days. The double blossoms usually bloom between the 15th and the 20th and last about two weeks. The double blossoms usually come out two weeks after the single blossoms.

Q. Who represented America at the International celebration in Norway? A. S. D.

A. The Authors' League of America appointed Robert Underwood Johnson, distinguished writer and former Ambassador to Italy, to represent this country at the Ibsen Centennial Jubilee at Oslo.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — Grand street is, to all intents and purposes, just another highway on New York's East Side. Like such highways it is cluttered with cheap shops the windows of which fairly shout their bargains. If there is anything to distinguish it from other business streets of the ghetto district, it is the whimsical and gaudy nature of its pushcarts. This is the commercial heaven to which all good little pushcarts go when they live and grow prosperous in Orchard street, in Livingston street and the other cart-cluttered thoroughfares, as pushcart is a pushcart, and the warps are hawked in the simple, primitive fashion of the foreign market place.

But in Grand street a pushcart becomes something half-way between a peddler's pack and a real store. The pushcarts here take on airs. They build display racks and awnings in trade. At night, under the flaring gasoline torches of the strings of electric lights, they become riotously colorful with shirtwaists, stockings and whatnot. These are suspended from cane-like structures, crude sticks and imitation stone to a business of the loud speaker. Some of the stands are miniature department stores. Most of the stores of Grand street are owned by immigrants who made their money at the curbstones. It is, the last stopping stone to a business of their own. It has the eternal flavor of a fair or a fete day. It is like nothing else in America.

So much for the physical elements of Grand street. But it seems that these streets have a certain spiritual pride as well. From its sidewalks have risen some of New York's most prominent citizens. And so the Grand Street Boy's Club is an organization unique even in a city such as Manhattan, where the unique paradoxically becomes almost commonplace.

Glancing over the list of some 7000 names, one is inclined to feel that the judge has tempered his eulogy — for here is the proof of the melting pot that is America. Here is the name of Max Steuer, one of the best known lawyers of the realm, who began by peddling matches. In the late afternoon he would sell papers on the corners. Here is Judge Cornelius Collins and Judge Morris Koenig, who well knows the struggle of parents to give their children an education. Here is Judge Marcus, who came from the Italian quarter. Here is Governor Al Smith, who came off "the sidewalks of New York." U. S. Senator Royal Copeland; George Olvany, the leader of Tammany Hall; Senator Robert Wagner, Eddie Cantor, Al Johnson and that famous team of Webster and Fields, Irving Berlin and a score of others.

Barefoot boys of the city streets — all of them. And each one of them with a story of struggle to fame such as only Manhattan's East Side can write.

ARCHEOLOGIST TELLS OF DIGGING UP RARE OLD MAYAN MOSAIC

Carnegie Institute Workers
Find Fine Example of Art in Limestone Jar

Washington (AP)—Details of the discovery of a turquoise mosaic, said to be one of the finest examples of aboriginal American art, in the Temple of Warriors at Chichen Itza, Yucatan, were revealed today in a paper prepared by Earl Morris of the Carnegie Institution and read before the National Academy of Sciences.

Morris discovered the plaque, the first to be found within the Temple of Warriors, under an ancient ceremonial altar in the Buried Temple below the Warriors Temple March 6. He had searched the major altars for treasure, finding only a few jade objects. Finally he entered the buried east room of the older temple and began his search again.

The space under the altar revealed nothing, but nearer the back wall his pick touched an object unlike the materials of the floor. Digging carefully he removed enough of the obstruction to find a limestone jar.

Morris removed the jar from the place where it had been deposited centuries before to a room where it could be examined without damage. There it was opened and the mosaic revealed. It is said to be one of the finest specimens of delicate craftsmanship ever found in the country of the Maya.

The jar, which is cylindrical in shape, is approximately 15 inches in diameter and one foot high. Upon its mosaic disk rested the bones of a bird, a highly polished ball of jadeite and the component parts of a necklace.

The jadeite ball, one and one-half inches in diameter, belongs to that group of objects known to Maya priests as sastun, or light stone, and used by them for purposes of divination. The breastpiece of the necklace consists of a jadeite face carved in Old Empire style. Next this breastpiece, on either side lay a globular bead of jadeite, and thence onward small disks of whitish shell in sufficient number to encircle the neck.

The mosaic is between eight and nine inches in diameter. The body of the plaque, which was of wood, has been reduced to a brown powder with the result that the mosaic is held in place only by the paperthin film of adhesive matter by which the turquoise pieces were encrusted upon the wood.

Approximately 3,500 pieces of turquoise were used in making the mosaic.

Experts at the Carnegie Institution say the mosaic plaque is unique not only because of its complexity and beauty, but because it is probably with one exception the only object made of turquoise obtained from the Maya region. It also is the only plaque of this nature found in Mexico of which the original location is known.

Morris speaking of its significance, says:

"It was found in a definitely recognized and datable archaeological horizon. Moreover, the interest which the plaque commands for all these

Room For Speculation In Realty Sale Figures

At least 99 1/2 percent of all realty transfers filed at the county courthouse do not carry the amount of money involved in the transaction, according to A. G. Koch, register of deeds.

The popular phraseology used in practically all transfers today, is "one dollar and other valuable considerations," which leaves room for plenty of speculation and rumor, said Mr. Koch.

Some years ago, Mr. Koch said, nearly every citizen filing a warranty deed would name the consideration involved. Now only a very few divulge this information.

Reasons for this growing use of the term "one dollar and other valuable

FACTS ABOUT WISCONSIN

Wisconsin paid a freight bill of $6,061,666 for transportation of lumber into the state from outside our borders in one year, according to the latest available figures from the Federal Forestry Service. This is an average freight charge of $12.37 on each thousand feet of shipped lumber. Twelve states exceeded Wisconsin in lumber transportation charges, among which New York was first, Illinois was second and Pennsylvania was third. Of these twelve states, only five paid an average freight charge that exceeded Wisconsin's $12.37 per thousand feet—and the freight charge is a fair measure of the distance any commodity is shipped. On all home produced lumber used within the boundaries of Wisconsin, our freight bill for the year was $3,512,507. This is an average freight charge of $5.34 per thousand, or 43 percent of the rate paid on shipments from remote lumber producing regions. Only a generation ago Wisconsin's home production of lumber served practically all of our needs at a low hauling charge from home producer to home consumer. At the present time our freight bill on 470,654,000 feet of home produced lumber is about one-third as large as our freight bill on 481,625,000 feet of lumber shipped into Wisconsin from other states. By comparing these figures, it at once becomes apparent that Wisconsin depends to a greater extent upon imported lumber than upon home produced lumber for building lumber and for raw material used by wood-working industries. A subsequent article will discuss the number of industries in Wisconsin which depend entirely or partly upon lumber as their chief source of raw material.

reasons is in no wise lessened by the realization that the tiny bits of stone composing it probably were mined in Arizona or New Mexico, fashioned and combined into beautiful form in or not far from the Valley of Mexico, then transported through some hundreds of miles of journey finally to be sealed away as a dedicatory offering beneath a temple floor."

WANT APPLICATIONS FOR C. M. T. C. NOW

Late Ones Are Liable to Be Disappointed, County
Chairman Warns

Outagamie county young men who wish to enter the Citizens' Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan this summer should file their applications immediately, Raymond Dohr, chairman of the county committee of the Military Training Camps association said. Twelve applications have been accepted. It was announced, and there is room for 16 more.

"Last year, more than 200,000 young men were disappointed because their request came in after all the 50 camps in the country were filled," Mr. Dohr said.

An entirely new city of tents is being built on the bluffs above Lake Michigan in the southern part of the Fort Sheridan reservation. Permanent mess halls and administrative buildings are being erected. Brigadier General Paul B. Malone, commanding the Sixth Corps area and Fort Sheridan says he hopes to make Fort Sheridan the best training center in the country.

The Fort Sheridan camp will be open from July 27 to Aug. 25. It is open to candidates from northern Illinois and eastern and southern Wisconsin. Applications may be filed with Mr. Dohr at 118 W. College-ave. The first course is open to all men between the ages of 17 to 21.

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Mom, dear:

I nearly ruined my new printed chiffon dress. The iron got too hot and I was in a hurry. Florence and I were late for an engagement with Senor Alvarado—that's the name of the playboy from South America. Florence said that thought his hot temper might not let him wait like an American man would and she'd go on and entertain him until I arrived but I saw through that easily enough. This pensive-eyed boy would make any girl try to steal a march on a mere sister-in-law.

So I hurried with the dress and burned a hole in one of the petal flounces. I think Florence was glad I couldn't wear it. It's particularly becoming to me. But my loss didn't get her anything because, unless I'm deaf, dumb and blind, this dreamy lad is more interested in yours truly than in any relatives.

He's really my find anyway. Florence would have gone right on following the usher to another table and passed him up entirely if I hadn't seen him. Of course I never dreamed of talking to him but you know you can tell a regular person when you see one. And isn't it silly to miss making a new friend just because there isn't anyone around to introduce you? When I think of the people I'm compelled to meet I think I'd rather just go around picking up a people I'd really like to know.

You wouldn't call this a pick-up though. It would have been senseless for us to sit there and drink tea at the same table and not say a word.

I guess the girl who brought the tea thought we were one party because she gave the check for all three of us, to Senor Alvarado. We wanted to pay our share but he wouldn't permit it. Then he asked us to have tea with him the next day.

When he told us where he was staying I thought it would give Florence a thrill to have tea there. It's the swankiest hotel in town. Simply beyond human nature to refuse his invitation. Florence will have something to tell the home folks after yesterday's all right.

For when we reached the hotel we found that Alvarado had asked another "gauche" to meet us. But he lacked his friend's finesse and Florence wouldn't dance a second time with him. I suppose he's one of those men you are always saying exist. Can't understand a modern girl. Well, that's his loss.

Much love,
MARYE.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Tynymites then quickly went back to the garden where they spent an hour or so at work, and then one said "Let's rest and play." A lady walked right in and said, "Oh, thanks for fixing up our bed. The garden looks just wonderful. You've all done well today."

"And now, we'll give you quite a treat, that is, if you like music sweet. We have a little orchestra that plays fine melody. The tunes are queer, I will admit, but with the flowers they make a hit. You Tynymites can all sit down, and you will shortly see."

So, on the ground the Tynymites sat. Said one, "What do you think of that? We're going to have some music. It will make me want to dance. Bring on your orchestra," he cried. "All right," the others then replied. "Now, all of you be patient. Give the players all a chance."

A little cricket then hopped about and took its place and looked about. Right soon a bullfrog joined it. They were funny as could be. "I'm scared," cried Clowry, full of fear. "What is that buzzing right near here?" The Tynymites looked and shortly found it was a humble bee.

"Oh, don't be scared. I understand," said Scouty, "he is in the band." And sure enough, the bee buzzed down right by the cricket's side. A turtle then crawled out real slow. It all was quite a dandy show. Upon the turtle's back I'll drum," a small grasshopper cried.

And then the band began to play, which made the Tynymites shout, "Hurrah!" The bullfrog croaked; the cricket chirped; the big bee buzzed real loud. With cat-tails, on the turtle's back, the grasshopper beat a crack, crack, crack! Said Scouty, "If that band was mine, I surely would feel proud."

(The Tynymites see a flower dance in the next story.)

of more than a million French newspapers, readers who voted on the subject.

Only one American was mentioned—Lola Fuller, the dancer who died in Paris a few months ago.

Madame Curie, famed for research with radium, led the list, which was compiled by the newspaper Quotidien. Second in order of popularity was Sarah Bernhardt, followed by Nurse Edith Cavell; George Sand; Evangelina Booth; Louise Michel, the "red virgin" of the Commune; the Countess of Noailles, French poetess; Madame Severine, a radical journalist; Suzanne Lenglen, and Madame de Staël, who mixed politics with tea parties in Napoleonic days.

Besides Lola Fuller, mention was made of Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragist, and George Eliot, the novelist.

New York—(P)—Women are coaxing their tresses to grow down to their waists again, observes Louis Fabian Bachrach, photographer, and he prophesies that by 1930 the bobbed head will be the exception rather than the rule.

The prediction is based on figures compiled in eight cities. Selecting 100 women in each of the cities who have been photographed at least three times since 1922, Bachrach arrived at the following statistics:

Although approximately 75 percent of the feminine population of the east wore bobbed coiffures in 1922, less than 30 percent are bobbed today. The percentage of long-haired women in Boston is 31; in Baltimore, 77; Philadelphia, 78; New York, 78; Washington, 72; Cleveland, 68; Pittsburgh, 65; and Detroit, 60. The number who had let their bobbed locks grow long varied from 25 in Detroit to 40 in New York.

Believe the figures represent the real trend of women's views on the subject," Bachrach said.

Landscapes, Portraits "Painted" With Needle

MRS. ENIE GEORGE REPRODUCING A MUSEUM PIECE TO UPHOLSTER AN ANTIQUE WING-CHAIR. BELOW, THE ANN HATHAWAY COTTAGE, ONE OF HER SILK PICTURES.

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

New York—Most women travel to far reaches for the romance of new sights. But Mrs. Enie George has gone to Thibet, Tahiti, Zambanga, South Africa, Mexico's interior and other strange places just to learn fancywork stitches.

She really is a landscape and portrait artist who uses homespun linen for a canvas and needle and silk threads for her brushes and paints. And in addition she can copy any antique piece of handwork you can show her in any museum!

Her "pictures" of such famous English places as the Ann Hathaway cottage differ from paintings only in that they are apt to be even more natural looking. For the sheen of silk somehow seems to catch the sun's gleam, the flower's bloom and the brown cottage's smooth surface in a most life-like manner.

AN AMERICAN EXHIBITION
Hanging now at the Hotel Roosevelt are some of her pictures—colorful English gardens with gay primroses, hawthorn, daffodils and other favorites; vistas of green fields beyond an arched gate; flagstone paths leading down old-fashioned gardens and other alluring views.

Each is made, stitch by stitch, with a fine needle and very fine silk thread. One garden uses 58 different greens, each shading into the next so skillfully that all one notices is the light and shadow of mid-afternoon.

For years stitchery has been a hobby with Mrs. George. She is so far as known, the only woman in America today who can make landscapes and portraits with a needle and thread. There are about six or seven such needle women in England, which incidentally, is Mrs. George's home. But expert stitchery is too painstaking an art for many women to take up professionally or for an avocation.

FROM THE "OLD MASTERS"
"I inherited my love of stitchery," Mrs. George tells one in her clipped English tones. "My father was an embroiderer. Though I have never learned to sew a seam or make any kind of garment I could embroider sofas, antimacassars, pin-cushions, doll pillows and other things. In my fancy stitches, when I was a very little girl."

"When I grew older, stitchery fascinated me. So I took course after course at the South Kensington Museum. I met there a Miss Mead, an 88-year-old woman who was trained when a child by Holbein, the great needle-man England ever had. He was the one responsible back before Victoria's reign for introducing so much church embroidery. This old lady taught me to sew portraits and landscapes."

Mrs. George not only took the equivalent to a college course in stitchery, but post-graduate work as well.

HUNDREDS OF STITCHES
She can make all the fine laces—Limerick, rose and needle point and so on, as well as do the 30 different Jacobean stitches the 35 or so church stitches, more than a dozen in gold work, various applique ones, all the Florentine class, the Crewell and others which are called mechanical. She knows several hundred different ones!

Stitchery always has been an avocation with Mrs. George, though now she has come here to "paint" with needle and thread some of America's millionaires' homes. She will show you her collection of pieces. Of a little picture of a cottage, she will say, "I did that on a trip in 1920 to Australia." Another represents a winter spent in India, still another a trip to Greenland.

HER SOLE AMUSEMENT
Stitchery, as a matter of fact, has been music, the drama, reading and all other amusement and relaxation to Mrs. George. She can get as excited over hearing of a stitch she does not know as a collector can over an old master, newly discovered.

"Stitchery has meant so much to me that it hurts me to think it will some day be a lost art," she says. "This machine age has almost to literature to do. The rush leaves one no time for quiet reflection, none in hand."

"But I should like to say a word before it is too late about the peace and satisfaction that comes from good needlework. It is well worth the years of effort one puts into it."

GARDENS, HEALTH AND MORALITY

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

GARDEN time again! If we have two inches of ground anywhere around us, why not plant something.

Joke all you like about Mr. City Dweller planting tomato-cans and egg plants, but he has his greatest respect. To have the urge to dig up the ground and put seeds into it, without even the slightest knowledge of how, or why, or when things grow, certainly is estimable.

There are so many things in the world we can't explain—sermons in stones, for instance; but it is fact upon health and morals that all the clinics on earth cannot equal.

The greatest thing to overcome in gardening, is the mental hazard. It is like golf. Get rid of the fear that you can't do it right.

The next thing is to summon up courage and a few dollars and proceed to a hardware or department store. Buy a spade, preferably with a round edge, a hoe, and if your ground is very hard, a small mattock to break up the earth. A watering-can or a hose will be useful.

Then get some seeds. It doesn't matter what kind. Almost anything you put into the ground will grow. It will give you a thrill one fine day by showing some tiny tender green shoots. You'll never forget that minute. Flower seeds will reward you a hundred times. Maybe you'll plant them too deep, or not deep enough, or something, but nature isn't so particular. She's almost fool-proof.

furnish flowers for your table all summer and fall. Try anias or bachelor buttons, or calceola or cosmos, nasturtiums, sweetpeas, or candy tuft. You'll make mistakes but you'll learn. And it's better than a nine rubber at bridge, as you will agree when you pick your first flowers.

Have You Tried CAL-X?
If you haven't, do so at once! Don't waste beauty, ruin your hands, deplete your energy and grow old before your time by being a slave to old-fashioned cleaning methods.
Get acquainted with the very latest and most modern of cleaning agents—CAL-X.
CAL-X is a snowy-white powder to sift into water used for any cleaning purpose.
It dissolves instantly and renders the hardest water as soft and soothing to the touch as rain water.
And then this is what happens—soap suds and bubbles like magic and one bar lasts as long as two bars usually do; grease, grime, stains and packed-in dirt disappear with a few quick rubs.
From sheerest lingerie to pots and pans, everything is left perfectly cleansed—without injury, without wear and tear; and in a fraction of the time ordinarily required.
CAL-X multiplies the cleaning force of soap and water many times and is without doubt one of the greatest of modern household helps.
Try it, whenever you rub, whenever you scrub—for complete, and absolutely sanitary cleanliness, for quick results—least cleaning effort and lowest cleaning cost.
Order a package from your grocer. After trying CAL-X once you will order several packages; one for the kitchen, one for the bath, one for the laundry, one for the garage—as an ever ready cleaning help.

ALBRECHT WINS APPLAUSE AT SENIOR RECITAL

Wenzel Albrecht played his senior violin recital Tuesday evening at Lawrence Conservatory of Music and demonstrated to an appreciative audience his superior violin talent, musicianship and technical mastery. His playing was characterized by an ease of manner and technical surety which readily won the applause of his audience.

The various styles of compositions were interpreted in a satisfying manner. His playing of the Grieg sonata with Everett Roubush at the piano was well thought out and convincing; the Mendelssohn concert was played with sympathy and verve and he achieved a genuine success with it. The Tenaglia and Rode numbers were played with splendid skill and especially pleased the audience. Mr. Albrecht's reading of the Ballade and Polonaise by Vieuxtemps was brilliant in both the musical and technical aspects. Everett Roubush played sympathetic and musically accompaniments.

13 BARRISTERS HAVE PRACTICED THIRTY YEARS

Madison—(AP)—Thirteen charter members of the Wisconsin state bar association, organized 50 years ago, are still listed among the attorneys of the state and may try to attend the fiftieth jubilee convention of the organization in Madison June 20 to 22.

Many of the elderly lawyers reside in Milwaukee now. They are L. V. Halsey, Frank M. Hoyt, Glenway Maxon, George C. Markham, George D. Van Dyke and "W. W. Wright."

The others: Burr W. Jones, and Nils P. Haugen of Madison; Samuel D. Hastings, Green Bay; Moses Hooper, Oshkosh; George F. Merrill, Ashland; Patrick O'Meara, West Bend; and James O'Neill, Neillville.

Plans are being made to fittingly honor these charter members at the fiftieth anniversary celebration. They have each been invited to tell the newer members something of early days at the bar in Wisconsin, or something about the association's early days.

Hopes for Victory Are Blasted

Kaukauna—One of the eve of the annual Northeastern Wisconsin interscholastic conference track and field meet took place at Kaukauna's best point winners, "Mush" Esler and "Toby" Keefe, have been declared ineligible. Esler is a member of the relay team which won the meet last year and he won several places in the dashes. Saturday he finished second in the 440 yard dash in the practice meet with Neenah and Menasha. Keefe was showing splendid form in the pole vault and he finished second, losing only to William Ludtke of the Orange and Black, in the Neenah triangular meet.

With the loss of these two men Coach Harry McAndrews is not expecting much from his squad at the conference meet. With but a few days left the coach must find another runner for the relay team and fast men and scores in the local school. Chances of the relay team repeating its triumph of last year are very slim.

Kaukauna's biggest chance seems to be in the pole vault and shot put. In the latter, three men, Willis Miller, William Rohan and Ralph Sager, are tossing the shot 35 feet and better. Miller won second last year losing only to the husky Van Sistrum of West De Pere who tossed it for a record of 45 feet, 2 1/2 inches. In the pole vault Ludtke must do his best to win from the crack Oconto Falls' team. Oconto Falls took the event last year at 9 feet, 6 inches. Ludtke tied for second with a West De Pere man. Most of last year's point winners have graduated from the Orange and Black school and Coach McAndrews has had to build up an entirely new squad.

TENNIS PLAYERS ENTER
NUMEROUS TOURNAMENTS

Kaukauna—Directors of the Kaukauna Tennis club will meet at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening in the high school building to take final action on the purchase of equipment. Arrangements for drawing up a match game schedule will be made and a committee appointed to see that the courts are placed in shape for immediate use.

Several members of the club are preparing for the Lake Shore championships to be held at Manitowish on May 26-30. This tournament is sponsored by the Aluminum Goods Tennis club of Oshkosh. Other tournaments in which Kaukauna will be represented this year are the Budget State championships at Oshkosh June 25 to 31; the Wisconsin State championships at Milwaukee June 30; the Brown County championships at Green Bay, July 1 to 4; the Manitowish county championship at Manitowish on July 18; the Fox River Valley Doubles championships at the Doty Tennis club at Neenah, July 21 to 22; the Fox River Valley Singles championship at Oshkosh, July 28 to 29.

DREGER FUNERAL HELD
WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Kaukauna—Funeral services for William Dreger, 60, 117 W. Wisconsin ave, were held Wednesday afternoon from Immanuel Reformed church with the Rev. E. L. Worthman in charge. Burial was in Kelson cemetery.

Mr. Dreger died at his home early Sunday morning following a paralytic stroke. He is survived by his widow, four sons, Myron, Jerome, Floyd and Vincent of Kaukauna; two daughters, Lorraine and Joanne of Kaukauna; two sisters, Mrs. Paul Hahnemann of Winneconne and Mrs. Charles Tretlin of Kaukauna; and five brothers, Albert, Charles and Otto of Kaukauna, Julius of Oshkosh and Christoph of Manitowish.

He was born at Fort Atkinson but lived in this city for 55 years. He was a member of the Moose and Beaver organizations.

ANOTHER PERFECT MARK
FOR THRIFT IN H. S.

Kaukauna—After a lapse of several weeks Kaukauna high school again has a 100 per cent thrift record. Every student in school deposited money in the school bank on Tuesday and a total of $62.22 was received by the tellers. Of this amount the freshman class led with $21.22 and the juniors were second with $18.35. Per capita deposits in each of the rooms were as follows: Commercial room, 22.4 cents; east assembly, 22.1 cents; west assembly, 16.6 cents; Latin room, 11.7 cents.

KAUKAUNA FIRST TO STANDARDIZE
FIRE EQUIPMENT

Kaukauna—Kaukauna firemen claim the local department was the first in the Fox river valley to have standard threads on all fire hose. Recently another valley city laid claim to this distinction and the local men immediately looked up dates only to find the honor belonged right at home. The change was made in this city about five years ago according to Captain Henry Esler and immediately after finishing with the work at Kaukauna the thread cutting device was taken to Appleton to standardize its hose couplings. Just recently the Green Bay department decided to make the change.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Miss Blanche Gerhartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gerhartz of Appleton, was married to Edward Langlois, son of Fred Langlois of this city, 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Mary Catholic church. Rev. William Koutnick of Kaukauna, an uncle of the bride, officiated at the ceremony. Miss Evangeline Mayer was maid of honor and Clem Gerhartz, brother of the bride, was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Ione Schmidt and Miss Cecilia Wolf. Little Betty Borland was flower girl and William Heinonen acted as ring bearer. Special music during the ceremony was sung by St. Mary church choir and there were several organ numbers by Mrs. J. Stoecker of Kaukauna, Ill., and violin solos by Edward Gainbach, Jr. "Ave Maria" was sung by Miss Mabel Horn of Antigo.

A reception at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Koutnick of this city followed the ceremony after which the couple left for Chicago. They will make their home in this city. Among the out-of-town guests were the Rev. William Koutnick of Kaukauna, Mrs. J. Stoecker of Waukegan, Ill., Mrs. William Stovasser of Milwaukee and Miss Mabel Horn of Antigo.

A regular meeting of Odile chapter of the Eastern Star will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the Masonic hall. Routine business will be transacted.

A committee of members of the Kaukauna Tennis club under the direction of Miss Betty Biese is decorating the Elks club for the annual Tennis club ball Friday evening. The ball will take on the appearance of a large tennis court. Music for the dance will be furnished by the Imperial Players of Green Bay.

The Ladies auxiliary of the Knights of Columbus will hold its regular meeting Thursday afternoon in the E. C. club rooms on Wisconsin-ave. A social hour will follow the business meeting.

Historical Pageant On Calumet-Co Fair Program

Special to Post-Crescent

Chilton—After investigating all the available attractions, the fair board has decided to present a new form of entertainment at the Calumet-co fair to be held the first week in September. The afternoon program will consist of the usual free attractions, and a historical pageant of Calumet-co will be presented at night.

This will be the first time that a production of this nature has been attempted here.

Actual episodes of Calumet-co history takes on new life for a brief period. Indian days; the first early settlers; Civil war days; the days of the 70's, and modern times ending shortly after the Civil-war, will be recalled in the pageant. The entire show will be enacted by residents of Calumet-co.

Several ballets will be performed by the young ladies and children between the acts.

All the details of production will be handled by the Thurston Management, Inc., of Chicago and Minneapolis.

A large equipment, consisting of many rich and historically accurate costumes, special stage and lighting effects, etc., will accompany the director here. The selection of a cast of several hundred characters will be begun later.

STAGE And SCREEN

VANITY BOX PRESENTS MYSTERY COMEDY

The "Haunted Castle" which comes to Fischers Appleton Theatre Thursday and Friday is a play of ghostly giggles—haunting melodies, and screaming comedy, with just enough Spanish romance woven through it to make the heart beat a little quicker. The play has to do with the adventures of three kind Yankee when confronted with a Spanish ghost. How the trio outwits the spooky specter to see Ghostly fingers wind through the plot, but Cupid, in the person of a colored taxi driver, outwits the evil menace and helps the Yankee boy to win the Spanish princess. Love, laughter, and thrills are combined to make this one of the funniest thrilling plays of the season.

MARION DAVIES, STARRING IN "THE PATSY," APPEALS TO EVERY HOME

Any American family who can't find some of their own characteristics to laugh about in the screen version of "The Patsy," starring Marion Davies, at Fischers Appleton Theatre Thursday and Friday, is either lacking in discernment or possesses funny-bones sheathed in armor plate. The family should see "The Patsy" in a body so as to nudge ma and sis punch sis. Afterwards they can all go home and live happier and funnier ever after.

Marion Davies is Patricia, the snub-nosed Cinderella of the Harrington family, wins, of course, first laurels, with the cleverest and most humorous characterization of the season. Dominated by her pompous mother and shrewish older sister, her life is just one suppressed desire after another.

"THE ENEMY"

Hysteria and hatreds bred of war propaganda—these form the "villain" of one of the most powerful screen dramas the season has seen and certainly one of the greatest stories Lillian Gish has ever starred in. In "The Enemy," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's gripping filmization of the Channing Pollock stage drama playing at the Elite Theatre for the last times today and Thursday.

The stage play, which took the dramatic world by storm and was hailed as the drama's greatest contribution to the cause of world peace, forms a gripping and powerful tale for the screen, with Miss Gish, as the tragic heroine, Paula, a dominant figure, while still losing none of her pathetic charm or fragile appeal.

It is a story of Austria, laid during and after the war and is, incidentally, the most modern role Miss Gish has ever played, coming practically up to the present day. Primarily a study in human nature under the lash of war, it is told in many delicate intimate touches together with a powerful climax in which Miss Gish rises to the heights of a Modjeska or a Bernhardt in the soul-grIPPING episode of the dead baby, when her child dead of starvation, she exults that "my baby is safe from the next war!"

A notable cast appears in the story, under the masterly direction of Fred Niblo. Ralph Forbes, famous for his work in "Beau Geste" and other plays, is seen as Carl, the husband torn from the heroine's arms by war, with Ralph Emerson, a newcomer from the stage, as Bruce, her English suitor in the story of disrupted nationalities.

her father and George Fawcett as stern old war profiteer, have powerful character roles and Karl Dane and Polly Moran add a comedy relief to the tense story. Fritz Ridgway gives a splendid character portrayal as Mitzi, who faces disgrace to keep her child from starvation and John S. Peters, a splendidly balanced performance as Fritz, her husband, an Austrian officer. Little Billy Kent Schaffer plays the child role in a clever manner.

Orville Wright has decided to present to South Kensington Museum, England, the original power-driven biplane in which he and his brother made the first flight in a plane equipped with an engine.

DEMONSTRATE METHODS OF HITCHING HORSES

Simple means of hitching four, five, six and eight horse teams so they can be easily handled will be demonstrated by representatives of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin at the Jamison farm in the town of Greenville next Saturday afternoon. Invitations were being mailed to farmers in the county by E. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent. This demonstration given at Farmer's week in Madison last winter, will be the first in Outagamie co.

ELEVEN SCHOOLS FILE FINAL ENTRIES IN VIKING MEET

Appleton, Wausau, Two Milwaukee Schools Set For Class A Competition

Kabat, Bay View, state Weight Champ, Several Other Stars Included

ADOPT NEW METHOD TO PICK OFFICIALS

Men Given Generally Highest Rating by Valley Coaches 'to Be Used'

Eleven high schools, all from Wisconsin, have returned their final entries for the first annual Valley League Track and Field championships, which will be held here on May 19, according to George Christoph, manager of the meet. Thirty-four schools from three states, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, have formally entered and Mr. Christoph expects the final "blanks" this week, though there probably will be the usual last minute rush.

The entries include only four for Class A but every one is included in the 1928 list of the strongest schools in Wisconsin. They are Bay View and Kaukauna in Milwaukee; Wausau, 1927 and 1928 Wisconsin River Valley conference champions, and Appleton, 1927, Fox River Valley conference champions. In Class B new entries beside Wrightstown include Berlin, 1927 Little Ten champ and strong contender in this year's Kaukauna, Fort Washington, Baraboo, Seymour and Ripon, another strong Little Ten team. Berlin has been undefeated this year and has tied Oshkosh high school in a practice meet. Wausau also is unbeaten.

Wausau has 30 men entered, Riverside 36, Appleton 25, Bay View 15, Kaukauna 25, Wrightstown 11, Fort Washington and Berlin 14, Baraboo 15, Ripon 16 and Seymour 17.

Each of the Class A teams have experienced stars and many of them were point scorers at the annual midwestern interscholastic relay carnival held last week at Madison in which the class of the midwest and perhaps the country competed.

BIG WEIGHT STAR

Included in the Bay View delegation is Gregory Kabat, state weight champion. His record at the Madison meet was a haul of 45 feet in the shotput, a new carnival record and a first in the discus throw at 116 feet. Then last week at the Marquette relay he spun the discus for 231 feet 3 1/2 inches, another meet record and thought to be a midwest high school record.

Another Bay View star is Melvin Shimek, who scored at the Madison conference and who is entered here as Hein. Fourth in the shot put and discus throw. Then the Bay View sprint medley relay team took second to the crack Froebel team of Gary, Indiana, when it set a new carnival record of 23:47, assuming that the school will be represented by a fast set of dashmen in the Viking meet. Kabat has entered the three weight events here and the high jump as well.

L. Tewes of Riverside took second in the high hurdles at Madison to a Froebel man who traveled the distance in 21:64. Its team took second to a new record time of 3:32.6 in the mile relay, guaranteeing a quartet of good quarter milers for the local meet. The fastest high men also topped the distance medley relay from a strong field in 17:21.8.

Wausau's stars are led by Eckert, a star hurdler, who counted heavily at the state meet at Madison last year. He is entered in the hurdles, high jump and broad jump. Other stars are Grabner, half-mile, LeDusire, high jump and pole vault, Maurer, discus and javelin and Pfeiffer, mile runner. Pfeiffer is a brother of Dutch Pfeiffer, famous Marquette university successor to Melvin Shimek.

Appleton's lineup includes Johnston, winner of second place in the broad jump at the midwest meet and also a 10 foot high jumper in 100-yard dash in the meet. The Orange star is undefeated in these two events and the broad jump in the Valley conference and holds the records in each. He is greatly improved in all the events this year and last week broke all three his marks, though not officially, running the 100-yard dash in 10:4, jumping 21 feet 5 1/2 inches and putting the shot 44 feet 1 1/2 inches which would have placed for him at Madison.

Other stars are Neller, Valley conference pole vault and struts who broke Neller's mark last week. Kruse and Popp in the weights, Roemer, a star 440 man and half-miler; Kuntz and Wolfgram, sprinters and the half-mile relay team of Roemer, Kuntz, Wolfgram and Marston, a speedy quartet.

Fresno, Cal.—Wilson Yarbo, Chicago defeated Bert Collins, Los Angeles, 6-1.

Cardinal Athletic Teams All Active Over Weekend

Madison —(AP)—All five Wisconsin teams will be active this week, three performing at home and the other two taking to the road for conference engagements. On Saturday the Badger nine will play the first of two games scheduled with Minnesota. The game will be held at Minneapolis.

The track team will enter into a four-cornered meet at Camp Randall stadium here, the occasion being the fifth annual outdoor quadrangular classic involving Ohio State, Northwestern, Chicago and Wisconsin. The Cardinal tennis stars, with two collegiate victories to their credit, will undertake to dispose of Iowa and Minnesota on a two day road trip, meeting the Hawks Friday and the Gophers Saturday.

Wisconsin's golfers have two home matches slated, one with Iowa on Thursday and the other with Michigan on Saturday. Both matches will be held over the Maple Bluff country club course. The crew will row an exhibition race on Lake Mendota here in conjunction with the "W" men's regatta on Saturday.

Things have not been breaking the best for Guy Lowman's baseball club the last few days. However, with the Big Ten race in a jumble, the Cards will have a chance to finish in a com-

One of the frequent complaints of the last basketball season in the Fox River Valley Conference, "why don't the schools have two officials at a fast game like this?" may be answered for the fans as the result of the meeting of the conference principals, coaches and athletic managers last week at Green Bay. A new system of choosing officials for next year's conference games was planned and in the course of the discussion most of the schools indicated that they would try the two-man system he coming winter.

CALL RULE-MEETING

A list of conference basketball officials will be submitted to each coach for his rating of their ability. From this list of officials the six or eight highest rated officials will be selected to officiate all of the conference games during the season. Next fall before the opening of the basketball season all of the officials who are to work in any of the games will be called together for an interpretations meeting. At this meeting a thorough understanding of the rules and interpretations will be established, and each official will be given a chance to work in a practice game before the coaches. This action should bring about better officiating through out the conference, as a uniform ruling will be made on all infractions of the rules. Last year Appleton had trouble with this problem on "faceguarding" and "backing up" and the coaches expressed their preference of having two officials for all games, and will without a doubt employ two of the selected officials for all conference games.

A new plan for schedule making was discussed and agreed to by the coaches. The plan calls for a home and home game with five member schools during the season and all games are to count toward the conference standing. Hereafter, it will not be necessary for two schools to meet each other in non-conference games. In arranging to plan the annual rivals were scheduled for each year, and the other schools were dropped each year in order. By this plan it will be necessary for Appleton to meet Marinette each year, even though they may not be classed as natural rivals.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN

The date for the third annual cross country run was set for Nov. 3 and is to be held at Marinette. It is the plan of the conference to rotate the meet from school to school, each school has facilities for the race. The first annual run was sponsored by East High school, Green Bay, and last fall Manitowish was host for the harrier gathering. It is expected that nearly every school in the conference will foster a cross country team next fall, and will send its team to the championship run.

CONFERENCE TENNIS

Manitowish high school issued an invitation to all conference schools to send their tennis teams here for the conference tennis championships, on May 26, at the time of the track and field meet. Five schools including Appleton, signified their intentions of sending representatives, and it may be possible for others to send men.

APPLETON OPENS INTERCO. LEAGUE WITH DEPERE MEN

Local Athletics May Try Out 17 Players at Depere Diamond on Sunday

APPLETON AT DEPERE. Little Chute at Combined Locks. Helibel Corners at Wrightstown. Freedom at Onida.

Play in the Intercounty Baseball League for the 1928 season will start Sunday afternoon and the Appleton Athletics will open the year with an out of town game. The local nine meets De Pere at De Pere to start the show. Old rivals clash in two other Sunday games. The neighboring villages of Little Chute, 1927 loop champion and Combined Locks battle as do Freedom and Onida, another pair of neighbors and rivals in the league since its start three years ago. In the fourth game Helibel's Corners plays Wrightstown.

The Appleton nine has been practicing diligently for the last few weeks in preparation for the opening game and will be set to give De Pere a tough battle. The local management is confident of a victory in the important tilt. Several candidates for each job have made the men who will take the positions step to win their places and this has put the men in good early season form.

BOOTH AND BRAUTIGAN

Pitching selections for the game will be made from "Lory" Booth, former star underhand pitcher of Appleton grade school and independent leagues and Brautigam, with two regular hurlers of the 1927 Appleton Fox River Valley League mound staff in the outfield. Catchers are H. Bruggeman, H. Horn and DeYoung.

First base will be held down by Furringer, a member of the Valley loop team last year, or Goss. At second will be Russ LeRoux or Witke and at short George or Eddie Verbrick. Shorty Herb and L. Horn will try the lookin corner. Outfielders are Boyle and Stenroge of the 1927 Valley loop team, Schuster, well-known independent player, and Vanderlinden.

ST. PAUL CLINGS TO LEAGUE FIRST

Holds One-half Game Margin Though Losing as Blues Also Lose

Chicago—(AP)—St. Paul, American Association pace maker, Wednesday still is clinging to its one-half game leadership over Kansas City, the result of both teams losing their games Tuesday.

THE SAINTS DROPPED A 9 TO 7 SLUGFEST

Toledo, when the Mudhens rallied in the eighth and ninth innings to score seven runs. The victors garnered 18 hits off three St. Paul hurlers. First baseman Leo of Toledo, the former, Toledo catcher, held up the game in the eighth, when they attempted to settle a personal argument with their fists.

INDIANAPOLIS MADE IT TWO STRAIGHT FROM THE BLUES

From the Blues, driving Sheehan from the mound in the ninth to win 5 to 3. The victory moved the Indians into third place.

BREWERS SLIP DOWN

Louisville ran wild on the paths and Milwaukee lost, 9 to 5, dropping two positions in the standing. The Colons lost the game in the seventh, coming in one inning. Sicking led the Louisville attack, driving in five runs with four hits. Pick accounted for three of the Brewers runs with a home run in the fourth that scored two ahead of him.

MINNEAPOLIS MADE IT TWO IN A ROW

Over Columbus to improve its standing. The score was 6 to 1.

OHIO STATE BALLERS

WALLOP MAROON NINE

Columbus, O.—(AP)—Ohio State's baseball forces trampled Chicago Tuesday, 12 to 3, before a small crowd. Klunk, pitching the last two innings for Ohio, was not hit and struck out four of the six batters who faced him. First baseman Leo of Ohio State made three hits and scored four runs.

LOS ANGELES—MIKE MCGUIRE, LIGHT

VALLEY GOSSIP

Schramm, the Fond du Lac slabster, is the first member of the 1928 Hard Luck club. The flashy slabster turned back 15 via the strike out route but dropped the ball game to Kaukauna, 4 to 2. The Kaws got but five hits off Schramm but these blows were fairly opportune.

Eddie Kotal, Packer football half-back, and former Lawrence college three sport star, made his debut with the Kim-Little Chute combination against Green Bay and got away in fine style. Kotal is playing short, for the Papermakers and leading off the batting list. He is a speed demon on the sacks and a mighty hard man to pitch to.

If the first game is a sample of what he is going to do all season, Kaukauna won't have any worries behind the bat because Wenzel turned in a first-class job of catching against Fond du Lac. Wenzel ripped a triple off one of Schramm's offerings and twice scooted home with run markers.

Beach, a promising youngster, seems to have won a berth in the Neenah infield. He has played a lot of ball with amateur teams in the valley and appears ripe for faster company. In the Appleton game, he produced two timely hits and showed lots of pep in the field.

Appleton has picked up a star backstop in Murphy, who caught last year for the Aluminum Goods team of Manitowish. He is a veteran paddist and just the kind of a receiver who will get good work out of young hurlers. In his first start in Valley league ball, Murphy collected a quartet of bingles.

Kirkhoff, the Green Bay centerfielder, was the only one of Clusman's hirelings that had any success in solving Poca's benders. His two blows spoiled a no-hit fray for the Papermakers' hurler. One of Kirkhoff's drives was a triple to the right field fence which bounded past Len Smith.

Ray Smith made a long trip to play with Kaukauna in the Fondy fracas. His brother Les is managing the Kaukauna club and Ray figured that it was worth while to lose a bit of sleep and help the cause. He did nicely as he got one hit in three trips to the plate and counted a run.

It is going to take a mighty good ball club to keep Kim-Little Chute away from Pennantville again this season. Manager Marty Lamers has rounded up a hard-hitting aggregation as there isn't a man on the club that is a weakening with the willow. And what's more Poca is some pitcher.

INJURIES IS THE ENEMY THAT THE PAPERMAKERS ARE WORRYING ABOUT more than anything else. Three members of the team, Poca, Boots Lamers and Len Smith have trick knees and these weak hinges often give lots of trouble. However, there is some first class reserve strength in uniform.

SAY AMERICAN WOMAN

BARRED FROM TENNIS

London —(AP)—Tennis circles were surprised Wednesday, the Daily Mail says, to learn that the United States Lawn Tennis association has notified Elizabeth Ryan, veteran American star, that she will not be wanted to play for the United States against Great Britain in the Wightman cup tests at Wimbledon in June. The Mail says the association pointed out that Miss Ryan, lacked residential qualification.

ALTHOUGH MISS RYAN LIVES IN ENGLAND

she never has abandoned her American nationality and now is in exactly the same position as she was in 1926 when chosen to represent the United States in the Wightman cup series.

113 LINKSMEN START

PLAY IN BRITISH OPEN

Sandwich, England —(AP)—A bitter northwest wind swept St. George's course Wednesday as 113 golfers entered to participate in the 72-hole play for the British open golf championship. The starters were bundled in sweaters and leather coats.

JOHN McHUGH, CALIFORNIA AMATEUR

was the first American to tee off and he set the pros following him a good example with par fours on the first two holes.

BOB STUPPLE, CHICAGO PROFESSIONAL,

was on McHugh's heels. He took six on the first hole.

INDIANS FURNISH SURPRISE PARTY IN YOUNG LEAGUE

Cleveland's Youthful Stars Show Fight Enough to Carry Them to Heights

New York—(AP)—It's a big season so far for ambitious youth in the Major Leagues and the Cleveland Indians, under new management and rejuvenated by a good share of this new talent, have started something that they hope to be able to finish.

"The way these youngsters, such as Lind at second base, Langford in center, Hodapp at third and others, have come through so far, along with some great pitching, has kept us up in the race," says Roger Peckinpaugh, the field manager.

"And we expect to stick there," adds Billy Evans, the general manager, patting Peck on the back. "And you can count on it," concluded Bradley, millionaire president of the club, patting both Peck and Evans on the back.

So far they have been getting results, much more so, in fact, than even the most enthusiastic backers of the Indians anticipated at the start of the season. They are safely entrenched on the first division, within striking distance of the top, although the experts on mass weighed them in pre-season calculations to sixth position.

YANKEE WIN HELPS

The opening victory of the Indians over the mighty Yankees, with George Uhle outpitching Herb Pennock and breaking the latter's winning streak, probably will do the morale of the club more good than anything that has happened so far. The team spirit under Peck has been high anyway, but it will be higher.

"It's too early to make any predictions and it would be foolish for me or anyone else to predict we will beat the Yankees or that anyone else can beat them," says Peck. "The champions haven't got the pitching they had last year but they still have had old wallop and that wins a lot of ball games."

THE INDIANS HAVE A PARTIALITY

for talent from the south. The famous Sewell brothers, Joe and Luke, first earned their spurs at the University of Alabama. Grant is an Alabamian while Lind and Morgan both got their early baseball education at Tulane University, New Orleans.

Paper Co. softball teams entered the four-way tie for first place in the American Softball League Tuesday afternoon as the result of victories in their first league games. The Pressmen swamped the Appleton Chair Co. by an 18-1 score and the Papermakers whipped the Petitbone-Peabody Co. team, 11-5. Others in the first-place tie are the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. and the C. N. W. Railroads, winners of the opening league games Monday over the Wisconsin Telephone Co. and Appleton Machine Co., respectively.

MANY ERRORS ON THE PART OF THE

Petitbone team lost the game to Fox River. The losers appeared, "staggered" and made many bad miscues. Kuether hurled well until the fourth frame when the Rivermen scored seven runs. Schreiter, Peart and Radtke hit homers to put the game on ice for Fox River. Batteries were D. Schreiter, and R. Tornow for the winners and N. Kuether, J. Schreiter and J. Haag for the losers.

THE TUTTLE PRESS CO. TEAM HAD little trouble with the Chair Factory crew. All of the sluggers of the winning team were in fine form, battering the ball to all corners of the field. Delfosse played the best game for the losers.

STATE PREP TEAMS IN BASEBALL MEET

Five One-day Competitions Held in May by High School Moguls

Marquette—(AP)—A state high school baseball tournament series was announced Wednesday.

The board of control of the state Interscholastic Athletic Association today announced, through P. F. Neveerman, secretary of the association, that five one-day competitions will be held this spring. The meets have been scheduled as follows:

May 19—Waupaca Manager G. E. Watson.

May 30—Cumberland, Robert Moser, Manager.

May 30—East Troy, C. H. Byrnes.

May 30—Platteville, L. K. Leidl.

Entry blanks on the first meet are to be in by May 12 and by May 21 blanks for the other meets are to be in the hands of the secretary or manager. The managers are to invite four teams to participate in each tourney, those teams to be, as far as possible, from schools not participating in basketball tournaments.

Awards and balls will be purchased by the Interscholastic association and that group is to pay the officials of the games, up to a total of $100 expense per tournament. All receipts are to be prorated among the teams, no team, however, receiving more than actual travel and living expenses. Profits are to be divided among the W. I. A. and the school conducting the tournament.

Legion Post Starts Plans For Boys Baseball League For Appleton This Summer

Managers of Youngster Teams Requested to Meet Next Tuesday at Y. M. C. A.

Youthful Babe Ruths, Ty Cobb, Tris Speakers and Herb Pennocks of Appleton will be given the big opportunity to play real baseball and plenty of it with a definite reward at the end of their season as the result of the national tournament being staged by the American legion for a national boys' championship baseball team. A league of either four or six clubs is to organize here next week to play a schedule of games from June 1 to July 15, according to Eddie Sternard, who is promoting the league for Oney Johnson post.

All teams in the league must consist of boys of 16 and under and no boy who will become 17 before Jan. 1, 1929 is eligible. They will play through a regular schedule at the end of which an all-star team will be chosen from the boys of the league. It will play for the district championship with all-star teams from other city leagues and the winner in that event will play in a state tournament and so on to through a midwest tourney a sectional tourney and on to the national championship for boys. Uniforms and equipment and expenses for the team selected for the district meet will be paid by the legion and the team will represent the local Y. M. C. A. post.

Managers of all boys' teams of Appleton interested in the playing in the league and winning a chance for further honors are requested to attend a meeting at 7:30 next Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. at which plans for the year will be outlined and the work started by Mr. Sternard. Two or three games will be played each week of the schedule with all games called at 6 o'clock so that working boys will be able to play in the loop and business men and townspeople can attend.

Trophies will be awarded for district and state championships and possibly for the city league titles.

The little "series" series will be played in September and the winning team will get the title of junior world champions. This boy team and a manager will have all expenses paid to see the world's series of the major teams. The boy players will have a private Pullman car and will live at the best hotels during the season.

The final game of the little series probably will be played just before the start of the first world series game.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR STATE PREP CONTEST

Marquette (AP)—The 1928 Inter-scholastic, bringing several hundred high school athletes together in several sports, were announced here Wednesday by Paul F. Neverman, secretary of the Wisconsin Inter-scholastic association for May 25 and 26 at Madison.

The annual Wisconsin high school athletic feature has been increasing in size from year to year and the 1928 meet promises to be the largest to date. Increased interest in track, swimming and tennis and action of the board in classifying the schools into three competitive groups and in voting $1,000 for refunds on expenses of schools is expected to raise the entry list numbers, he said.

The classification is planned to make better equality in competition and the guaranteed refund will assure competing schools at least a part of their travel expenses.

Class C attracted 179 boys from 27 schools last year; 364 boys from 34 schools were in the 1927 Inter-scholastic and Class C drew 308 boys from 17 schools, making a total of 78 schools participating, which was 11 more than in 1926.

The Class C schools are those with an enrollment of less than 140 and from this enrollment up to 750 the schools are in Class B. Class A takes in all schools with more than 750 pupils.

Coach Guy Sundt of the University of Wisconsin, where the meets will be held, is in charge of the Madison end of the preparations. There arrangements are being made for housing the prep athletes and plans are being detailed for handling this great number on Camp Randall field.

Only two teams of the Fox River Valley League still will have clean slates after next Sunday's big games and perhaps only one will be that fortunate, for the schedule for the day brings two of the three nines as yet undefeated together. Kimberly and Kaukauna in what should be a thrilling battle for first place with no doubt in two starts or it may even be alone on top, the only undefeated team, should Fond du Lac's whip Neenah-Menasha at the Fall city.

Kimberly is last year's champion but Kaukauna appears almost as strong on paper with its addition of three of Notre Dame's best stars of last year at important positions such as pitcher, shortstop and center fielder, and Ray Smith at first base. Playing at the Kawtown diamond the game should be a tossup and a thriller with chances for an electric City win fairly bright in spite of the great slugging power the K-C men showed last Sunday against the strong Green Bay nine.

If second division teams can furnish upsets, four nines may be tied for the second position with 50-50 marks. Appleton faces Green Bay and the Baymen are favored slightly before the home crowd in spite of their awful wallop at the hands of Kimberly and Appleton's loss in ten frames to Neenah-Menasha by a single score. Kimberly is a stronger team than Neenah-Menasha to present appearances. The winner of the game advances to a second place tie and the loser is alone in the cellar with two straight defeats.

In the third game, Neenah-Menasha still in the win column meets Fond du Lac, which lost to Kaukauna by two runs, at home. The game appears to be a tossup with the teams equally matched on paper but the Twin City aggregation is given the edge playing at home.

VIKING NETTERS IN TWO WEEKEND MEETS

Two tennis teams are on the schedule for Coach A. D. Powers' Lawrence college netters this weekend, one being played at Appleton Friday and the other at Ripon Saturday. Lawrence Oshkosh State Teachers' college of Oshkosh will invade Appleton for the first contest and Ripon college will play host to the Vikings on the second day. The Redmen will play here the following Saturday.

The same team which lost to Marquette's strong squad Saturday probably will take the courts for the matches, though some changes may be made or there may be alternates for the two battles in some of the positions because of the two meets on successive days. At present the Blue quartet consists of Barker, Remmel, Hansen and Robson.

Ask Appleton To Subscribe $200 Toward Olympic Funds

The American Olympic Committee has chartered the S. S. President Roosevelt, sailing from New York July 11, to transport the U. S. Olympic Team to Amsterdam for the Olympic Games which will take place July 29 to August 12. The money to defray this expense is being raised as heretofore, by popular subscription. The quota of Appleton is $200.

Let us do our part as we have always done and raise this quota. Subscriptions will be received at this office and transmitted to John J. Rasch, treasurer of the American Olympic Committee, Woolworth Building, 233 Broadway, New York, or may be mailed direct.

San Francisco, home of mighty weight men since the days of Ralph Rosa, again is the first big city to respond with its full quota for the Olympic Fund. Within a day after President Coolidge proclaimed this week National Olympic Fund Week, sport leaders in the Golden Gate city met at a luncheon and oversubscribed San Francisco's $25,000 quota.

A sum of $50,000 was subscribed within eleven minutes at a luncheon on Monday. The sum was contributed in cash and pledges, with the understanding that the pledges were to be made good within a period of ten days.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND RACE SEASON OPENING

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—With perfect weather and a fast track, an unusually big crowd watched the opening of the 23-day spring racing season at Churchill Downs Tuesday.

Martie Flynn, winner of the inaugural handicap, covered the eight furlongs in 1:37.4-5 and was running handily at the end.

Failed sticking placed after leading half through the sked. The Fair Ace farm's genial host showed. Although the real influx of derby visitors has not started, hotels reported rushing business three days before the season opened and last night hobbies were crowded with men and from chairs.

Des Moines—(AP)—Mike Mandeli, St. Paul, technically knocked out Charley Scherer, Detroit, (5).

Paris—Tiger Humery, French featherweight champion, stopped Johnny Cuthbert, Great Britain (7).

VIKING FROTH TRACK TEAM BATTLES RIPPON

The Lawrence college freshman track team which will represent the local school in its first dual froth meet of the season Saturday morning at Ripon, was to be chosen at a practice meet Wednesday afternoon at Whiting field. The froth squad was divided into two teams, the Army and Navy, and a dual meet was to be held under the direction of Coach George Christoph. Christoph was to pick his team from the winners in the meet.

The Vikings are slight favorites to win the Ripon froth because of a better-balanced squad, though Ripon has several individual stars, such as Mangan of Milwaukee Riverside in the weights. The local team also will take part in the first annual Midwest conference telegraphic meet later in the year. The best material of the squad includes Friezel of Manitowish, former Valley conference 410 champion; Pfefferle of Appleton, weights and broad jump; Calhoun of Milwaukee Washington, state polo vault champion and a star high jumper;

Barnes, Vetter and several others who have made the varsity men step in practice competition.

New Haven, Conn.—Louis "Kid" Kaplan, 30-year-old, won over George Day, New Haven, (10).

Cristobal and Colon are the two cities at the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal.

George Washington was one of America's first engineers. Some of the lines he surveyed still stand.

Would you throw away part of every pound of coffee?

—of course not! . . . not if you knew it.

Yet many women do just that when they buy coffee that's stale, and find they must use extra spoonfuls before they can brew coffee of normal strength.

These extra spoonfuls represent the penalty paid for buying stale coffee—extra spoonfuls that point to the difference between staleness and freshness in coffee.

There is no such wasteage in a pound of coffee from the "Kept-fresh by McLaughlin" Coffee Service, because this coffee is delivered direct to your grocer so soon after roasting and so frequently that he can always supply you with it at its best.

GIRL ALONE

BY NEA SERVICE
ANNE AUSTIN

THIS HAS HAPPENED
SALLY FORD is left at the state orphanage when she is four by a woman who says she is the mother, but who never returns. At 18, Sally shows a genius for sewing which sets her apart from the other girls in the orphanage. She is "famed out" for the summer to CLEM CARSON, a farmer. She meets DAVID NASH, a handsome young student who is working on the farm during the summer. PEARL, Clem's daughter, hates Sally because David is plainly fond of the little orphan and determined to make Pearl and her crowd accept Sally as their equal.

One Sunday morning Sally is left alone in the kitchen while the Carson family goes to church. David sits on the back porch, book in hand, studying. They are surprised when Pearl returns suddenly from church and accuses Sally of having stolen her diamond pin.

CHAPTER VIII

Sally started at Pearl, color draining out of her cheeks and out of her sapphire eyes, until she was a pale shadow of the girl who had been glowing and sparkling under the sun of David's affectionate interest.

"I haven't seen your diamond bar-pin, Pearl," she said at last. "Honest, I haven't!"

"You're lying! I saw you stoop and pick something up in front of the sofa last night. I was crazy not to think of my bar-pin then, but I remembered all right this morning, when it was gone off this dress, the same dress I was wearing last night. See, David?" she appealed shrilly to the boy, who was looking at her with narrowed, level eyes. "It was pinned right here! You can see where it was stuck in! Look!"

David said nothing, but a slow, odd smile curled his lips without reaching those level, narrowed eyes of his.

"What are you looking at me like that for?" Pearl screamed. "I won't have you looking at me like that! Stop it!"

Slowly, his eyes not leaving Pearl's face for a moment, David thrust his right hand into his pocket. When he withdrew it, something lay on his palm—a narrow bar of filigreed white gold, set with a small, square-cut diamond. Still without speaking, he handed his hand slowly toward Pearl, but she drew back, her eyes popping with surprise and—yes, Sally was sure of it—fear.

"Where did you get that?" she gasped.

"Do you really want me to tell you?" David spoke at last, his voice queer and hard.

"No!" Pearl shrieked. "No! Does she—does she know?"

"No, she was telling the truth when she said that hadn't seen the pin," David answered, flipping the pin contemptuously to the kitchen table.

"But next time I think you'd better put it away in your own room. And Pearl, you really must try to overcome this absentmindedness of yours. It may get you into trouble sometime."

Pearl shivered, seemed to shrink visibly under her fussy pink georgette dress.

"Oh!" she called suddenly, her face crumpling up in spasms of weeping. "You'll hate me now! And you used to like me, before she came! You—oh, I hate you! Quit looking at me like that!"

"Haven't you better go back to church?" David suggested mildly.

"Tell your mother you found your pin just where you'd left it," that contemptuous smile deepening on his lips.

"You won't tell Papa, will you?" Pearl whimpered, as she turned toward the door. "And you won't tell—her?" She could not bear to utter Sally's name.

"No, I won't tell," David assured her. "But I'm sure you'll try to make up to Sally for having been mistaken about the pin."

"She's all you think of!" Pearl cried, then, sobbing wildly, she ran out the kitchen door.

"Guess I'd better not bother you any longer, or they'll be blaming me if dinner is late," David said casually, but he paused to pat the little hand that was clenching the table.

Sally was so puzzled by the strangeness of the scene she had witnessed, so tormented by brief glimpses of something near the truth, so weak from reaction, so stirred by gratitude to David, that she was making poor headway with dinner when Clem Carson, who had not gone to church, came in from the barn dressed in overalls in defiance of the day.

"Got a sick yearlin' out there," he grumbled. "A blue-ribbon heifer calf that Dave's grandpa persuaded me to buy. I don't believe in this blue-ribbon stock. Always delicate—got to be nursed like a baby. I give her a whopping dose of castoreum and she slobbers all over me."

He took the big black iron tea-kettle from the stove and filled the granite wash basin half full of the steaming water. As he lathered his hands until testoons of soap bubbles hung from them, he cocked an appraising eye at Sally, who was busily rolling pie crust on a yellow pine board.

"Dave been hanging around the kitchen this morning, ain't he?"

Sally's hands tightened on the rolling pin and her eyes fluttered guiltily as she answered, "Yes, sir."

"Better not encourage him, if you know which side your bread's buttered on," the farmer advised laconically. "I reckon you know by this time that Pearl's picked him out and that things is just about settled between 'em. Fine match, too. He'll own his granddad's place some day—next farm to this one and the young folks will be mighty well fixed. I reckon Dave's pretty much like any other young whippersnapper—ready to cock an eye at any pretty girl that comes along, before he settles down, but it don't mean anything. Understand?"

"I reckon any fool could see that Pearl's mighty near the apple of my eye," Carson went on, as he dried his hands vigorously on the Sunday-fresh roller towel. "And if she took a notion that maybe some other girl better, why I don't know as I could do anything else but take you back. And I'd hate that. You're a nice, pretty little thing, real handy in the kitchen, but, yes sir, I'd have to tell the matron they you just didn't suit."

"Well, I got to get back to that yearlin'!"

Somehow Sally managed to finish cooking the big Sunday dinner before the family returned from church. Out of deference for the day she decided to change from her faded gingham to white, before serving dinner. Surely she had right to look decent! Clem Carson couldn't construe her humble "dressing up" as a bid for David's attention.

In her little garret room she scrubbed her face and hands, pinned the heavy braids of soft black hair about her head, and then reached under her low cot bed for her small bundle of clothes, in which was rolled her only pair of fine-ribbed white lisle stockings. As she drew out the bundle she discovered immediately that other hands than her own had touched it; the stockings had been unrolled and then re-rolled clumsily, not at all in her own neat fashion. Then suddenly full comprehension came to her. The pieces of the puzzle settled miraculously into shape. It was here, in this bundle, that David had found the bar-pin. Somehow he had seen Pearl slip into the room that morning, had guessed that her secret visit boded no good for Sally; had spied on her, and then later had retrieved the bar-pin from the bundle in which Pearl had hidden it.

If David had not seen—But she trembled so that he thought, Trembling so that her teeth chattered, she dressed herself as decently as her orphanage wardrobe permitted, and then went downstairs to "dish up" the dinner she had prepared.

Immediately after dinner David went across fields to call on his grandfather, a grouchy, sick old man who almost hated the boy because he would soon own the lands which he himself had loved so passionately. He did not return for supper, and at breakfast on Monday there was no Sally's name.

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are perfect, the body's natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All Drug-gists.

time for more than a smile and a cheerful "Good morning," which Sally, with Clem Carson's eyes upon her, hardly dared return.

Sally wondered if David had been warned, too, for the days passed who seldom saw him alone for as much as a minute. Perhaps he was being careful for her sake, suspecting Carson's antagonism, or perhaps, in spite of the shameful trick in which he had caught her, he really cared for Pearl. Evenings he sat for a short time in the living room or on the front porch Pearl beside him, chatting animatedly; but he was always in his room studying by 10 o'clock, a blessed fact which made her own isolation in her little garret room more easy to bear.

On Thursday morning at 10 o'clock David appeared at the kitchen door, an axe in his hands.

"Will you turn the grindstone for me while I sharpen this axe blade, Sally?" he asked casually, but his eyes gave her a deep, significant look that made her heart flutter.

Mrs. Carson, standing over her bubbling preserving kettles, grumbled an assent, and Sally flew out of the kitchen to join him.

The grindstone, a huge, heavy stone wheel turned by a pedal arrangement, was set up near the first of the great red barns. While Sally poured water at intervals upon the stone, David held the blade against it, and under cover of the whirling, grating noise he talked to her in a low voice.

"Everything all right, Sally?"

"Fine," she faltered. "I get awful tired, but there's lots to do—such good things to eat—and Pearl's given me some dresses that are nicer than any I ever had before, except they're too big for me."

"Isn't she fat?" David grinned at her, and she was reminded again how from the although he seemed so very grown-up to her. "She wouldn't be so fat if she worked a tenth as hard as you do."

"I don't mind," Sally protested, her eyes misting with tears at his thoughtfulness for her. "I've got to earn my board and keep. Besides, there's awful lot to be done, with the preserving and the canning and the cooking and everything. Mrs. Carson works over harder than I do."

David's eyes flashed with indignation and a suspicion of contempt for the meek little girl opposite him.

"You're earning five times as much as your board and room and a few old clothes that Pearl doesn't want are worth it. It makes me so mad—"

"Sally! Ain't that axe ground yet? Time to start dinner! I can't leave this place I'm making." Mrs. Carson shouted from the kitchen door. "Wait, Sally," David commanded. "I wouldn't, you like to take a walk with me after supper tonight? I'll help you with the dishes. You never get out of the house, except to the garden. You haven't even seen the fields yet. I'd like to show you around. The moon's full tonight—"

"Oh, I can't!" Sally gasped with the pain of refusal. "Pearl—Mr. Carson—"

"I want you to come," David said steadily, his eyes commanding her. "All right," Sally promised recklessly, her cheeks pink with excitement, her eyes soft and velvety, like dark blue panes.

Braving the wrath of Carson, Sally goes to meet David. In the next chapter.

BISHOPS GO AFOOT AND BY AIR TO ALL FRONTIERS OF CREED

Thirty Seven Active Bishops of Methodist Episcopal Church Travel Far

Kansas City, Mo., (AP)—Walking, riding, sailing and flying the 37 active bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church travel 1,500,000 miles annually checking up the progress of Methodism over the world. Each bishop averages 40,000 miles of travel yearly, and none spends more than three months a year at home.

No means of travel known to man has escaped the episcopates in traversing their far-flung areas. Airplanes, steamers, houseboats, canoes, trains, automobiles, stage coach, bicycle, horses and sleighs all are called into use.

Bishop John L. Nielsen of Zurich, Switzerland, whose area includes the Balkans, Germany, Russia and the Scandinavian countries, covers approximately 15,000 miles yearly by airplane. Using only the regular European air-passenger lines he often visits a half-dozen countries in a week and has visited three nations in one day's flying.

The bishop travels approximately 50,000 miles yearly, using also the railroad, automobile, steamer and sled. Bishop Eben S. Johnson of Cape Town, South Africa, and Bishop George R. Grose of Peking, China, cover hundreds of miles afoot and thousands of miles horse or muleback, on bicycle and in sedan chair.

Bishop Grose travels nearly 15,000 miles yearly in that part of China where there are no roads, no automobiles and only trails for roads. Using the houseboats of the broad and yellow Yangtze river, he penetrates the far interior, after which he hitches hikes out to the outlying missions. Twice he has journeyed nearly to the border of Tibet, thousands of miles from his home.

Bishop Johnson covers from 15,000 to 25,000 miles annually in what is "darkest Africa." From his home in Capetown he goes north almost to the Sahara and from ocean to ocean.

Liberia, on the west central coast, was removed from Bishop Johnson's area and given to Bishop Matthew W. Clair of Covington, La., because it was nearer to Covington than Capetown. Bishop Clair uses steamers almost entirely to reach his area, which includes also the West Indies, Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Industrial development in India has made it possible for the four Indian bishops, John W. Robinson, Frederick W. Warner, Frederick B. Fisher and Brenton T. Badley, to travel mostly by train and motor and these bishops spend only a few weeks each year away from railroads.

Bishop Fisher has circled the world eight times in 28 years.

Bishop Julius Lowe of Singapore used every known means of travel in covering the Straits Settlements.

Bishop Charles L. Mead of Denver has probably the largest domestic area, extending from Billings, Mont., to Chihuahua, Mexico and from Sioux City, Iowa, to Nevada. He traveled 52,000 miles last year. Much of his western and Mexican travel is by stage coach and horseback and he is often called to lay aside the cloth for khaki in traveling.

VALLEY PHOTOGRAPHERS MEET HERE THURSDAY

Approximately 50 photographers from the Fox river valley are expected to attend the meeting of the Fox River Valley Photographers association at the Conway hotel on Thursday. Photographers will be present from Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Manitowish, Oconto, New London, Neenah, De Pere and Appleton.

F. M. Ingler, the speaker of the evening, will talk on Ethics in Business. Dolores Tustison will entertain with Inspirational dances. E. H. Harwood is in charge of the program.

BAR SMOKING AMONG UNIVERSITY WOMEN, ARTICLE SUGGESTS

Madison — (AP)—A curt suggestion that the University of Wisconsin should follow the example of Northwestern University and bar smoking among women students is contained in the May number of the Motor, official organ of the Wisconsin W. C. T. U. An article, written by Dr. Frederick A. Green, editor of Health says:

"It is welcome and significant news that Mrs. Winifred R. Richardson, dean of women of Northwestern University, has sent orders to housemothers and chaperons of the fourteen sororities and five girls dormitories that all smoking must cease under threat of expulsion.

Dr. Green calls smoking by women "peculiarly offensive" and "bad in various ways." He claims that smoking and chewing are factors in the production of cancer of the lips and tongue.

TREASURY BALANCE GREW DURING APRIL

Receipts in Month Were Far Ahead of Amount Expended,
Report Shows

Madison — (AP)—Wisconsin's treasury had a balance of $16,663,743.48 on May 1, as compared with a balance of $16,076,365.00 on April 1, according to monthly statement of Solomon Levi-an, state treasurer.

The general fund balance on May 1 was less than on the first of the previous month, being $12,153,852.50, as compared with $12,612,276.02.

The amount deposited in banks not subject to check was $130,036.81; deposited in checking account was $3,661,655.94. Cash on hand in the vault amounted to $120.72.

Receipts during April were $10,008,086.29, with disbursements amounting to $9,418,911.22.

Balance in various state funds on May 1 was as follows: School fund, $1,123,376.00; University fund income, $1,015,800.37; conservation fund, $452,927.49; normal school, $140,370.85; normal school fund income, $182,346.26; teachers insurance and retirement, $321,270.54.

MAKING SOIL SURVEY IN NORTHERN COUNTY

Madison — (AP)—A force of forestry and soil experts this week began its project of making a detailed picture of Bayfield-co. It hopes to be able to present a report of the undertaking to the commissioner of agriculture sometime in December.

The nearly a dozen men who are making the survey will live in camps throughout the county during the time they are engaged in the work and will conduct a minute study of the land and its timber crop. They will cover every 40 acre tract in the 1,200 square miles of the county and will have an intimate knowledge of nearly every ten acre tract.

The general purpose of the survey, as outlined by A. R. Whitson of the soils department of the college of agriculture, is to get all the information possible that will assist the land owner in deciding what is the best use to make of his farm. The mapping of timber stands also will assist the state conservation commission in administration of the state forest crop law.

ROAD CREWS MAKING REPAIRS ON HIGHWAYS

County road department crews this week are making repairs on county trunk highways, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. County roads are in fairly good shape and are improving almost daily. Two grading machines were loaned this week to the town of Grand Chute and the town of Greenville, which are engaged in some local road repair work.

INTERESTING NEWS IN 'LAWRENCE ALUMNUS'

April Number Has Articles by Wriston, Dr. MacHarg and Poem by Local Girl

"What the Colleges are Doing" an article by Dr. Henry Meritt Wriston, president of Lawrence college, appeared in the magazine Lawrence Alumnus, the April number of which was issued last week. The magazine also contains a reprint from a letter to the Appleton Post-Crescent, in which the trustees gave the reason for the choice of the site for the new gymnasium.

Among other interesting features in the magazine is an article by Dr. J. B. MacHarg, "The Story of Old Ironsides," a poem by Helena D. Koletskoe, daughter of Mrs. H. Koletskoe, 223 J. Summer-st., and an article by Miss Elizabeth Wilson, "Miss Wilson, who graduated from Lawrence with the class of 1890 and has been prominent in Y. W. C. A. work in the United States and India, has recently decided to make her permanent home in Appleton.

The Alumnus also contains a letter from Ellen Tutton, Lawrence's good-will student in Europe, in which she notes the comments of a Frenchman who compares American and European women. Editorial comment on commencement, campus sports, basketball and the new football coach appear in this issue. It also contains a lecture "The Four Fundamentals of Life," an address which Dr. Henry Hitt Crane delivered to the student body last year.

ROADS WON'T STAND HEAVY TRAFFIC YET

Gross load weight restrictions still are in force on roads in Outagamie-co according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, and probably will remain in effect for the next two or three weeks. Mr. Brusewitz explained that roads were still spongy for sale today, and the average weights—sometimes carried by huge transportation trucks.

RAILROAD AND CANAL BROUGHT FRAUD AND GRABBING OF LANDS

Every Action of Congress to Remedy Situation Made It
Worse

EDITOR'S NOTE—What has become of our 1,800,000,000 acres of public land? This is the third article in a series of six that helps to answer the question.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington — In 1841 Congress passed the first general pre-emption law affecting the public lands. Only 160 acres, according to the law, could be pre-empted by one person, but yet enough to bribe a legislature into providing all the wherewithal to construct one.

But the system of using "dummy" settlers was worked harder than ever and more large holdings were obtained by individuals and corporations. The same thing followed the Homestead Act of 1862, which gave away land to homesteaders but that law actually benefited hundreds of thousands of bona fide settlers.

Meanwhile a new and unprecedented era of grab and corruption had sprung up in the administration of the public domain through the demands first of canal companies and later of the railroad promoters.

Congress gave millions of acres in land grants for canals and money as well, much of which went into and remained in private pockets. Many of the grantee companies never bothered to build any canals once they had the land and the money.

Where swamp lands were given, as especially adapted for canal building, the canal companies frequently surveyed and seized rich mineral, timber and farm lands to which they had no legal title. This "swamp land" game was played many times afterward, sometimes with the connivance of land office or other officials.

Then came the railroads. The people wanted railroads, but the promoters demanded public money, public lands and many valuable rights. To get all that they bribed legislators with large amounts. Sometimes a company might have nowhere near enough to start a railroad with, but yet enough to bribe a legislature into providing all the wherewithal to construct one.

Bilbery was the order of the day. Standards of honor were low. In 1840 the Pennsylvania legislature discovered that the United States Bank had paid $150,000 in bribes. Senator Daniel Webster, the great orator, one of the bank's staunchest defenders, had been receiving the regular retainer from the bank — and squawked when it was late in arriving!

Gustavus Myers, author of a "History of the Great American Land Grab," after an investigation, cited what he termed a few "of the many instances of the debauching of every legislature in the United States."

Between 1850 and 1872 Congress gave away 155,000,000 acres to railroad corporations, much of it under the pressure of persistent lobbying. This area is more than three-fourths as much land as the government has for sale today, and the acreage was infinitely more valuable.

In 1855 Commissioner Sparks of the general land office declared that railroad corporations had obtained tens of millions of acres by fraud under cover of law and had squandered their legal quota by about 10,000,000 acres.

Millions of acres were being held for speculation without payment of taxes.

Piratical days, those! The cattlemen entered the picture with the passage of the Desert Land Laws which, because they failed to require actual settlement by those who acquired land, enabled cattle syndicates to obtain enormous new areas. Often the cattlemen grabbed land without title, fenced it in and hired gunmen to chase intruders. In 1834 the acting commissioner of the general land office estimated that at least 1,000,000 acres had been illegally seized in the Arkansas Valley of Colorado.

Meanwhile the lumber companies were going after timber. The Stone and Timber Act of 1876 allowed sale of forest and mineral land at $2.50 an acre with a 100-acre limit per purchaser. The land was said to have been worth $100 an acre. Trainsloads of "dummy" purchasers were rushed to the front and more great areas passed under syndicate control.

In 1895 Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, then a representative, charged that $37,000,000 had been "stolen" in the preceding seven years under the Stone and Timber Act. He cited facts and figures to prove it.

In 1876 Congress had ordered certain lands sold in any amount to all comers for cash at $1.25 an acre. The government was getting from $10 to $20 an acre for coal lands at the time in some sections, but millions of acres of coal, iron and timber lands went under this sale. Eight million acres were sold in Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Arkansas and Mississippi.

A congressional investigating committee appointed in 1893 reported: "The present system of laws seems to invite fraud. You cannot turn to a single state paper where the subject is mentioned prior to 1883 from the message of the president to the report of the commissioner of the land of-

Mack, Wickert and Laabs
Condemn Land for Power
Line Extension

Commissioners appointed recently by County Judge Fred V. Holmstrom to appraise land in the northern section of the county over which a power line is to be constructed by the Wisconsin Valley Electric company are to start their work this week. The land is to be condemned because the owners and the power company have been unable to agree on a price. The power line is to extend from Green Bay to Stevens Point.

The commissioners, Mike Mack, Shiocton, Herman Wickert, Appleton, and A. W. Laabs, town of Grand Chute, met at the courthouse this week to receive instruction. Approximately 30 farms in the towns of Oneida, Seymour, Deer Creek, Cicero and Maine will be visited by the commissioners.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
RACINE — Heres an alibi, a new one, that possibly can be worked again. Police here gave a motorist a ticket for parking in front of a fire plug on reporting to court the following day he explained it was from South Dakota and that he had "never seen one of them durn things. They don't have such newfangled contraptions out there," he said and got away with it.

But, what statements of "fraud" in connection with the disposition of public lands is found.

American Culture

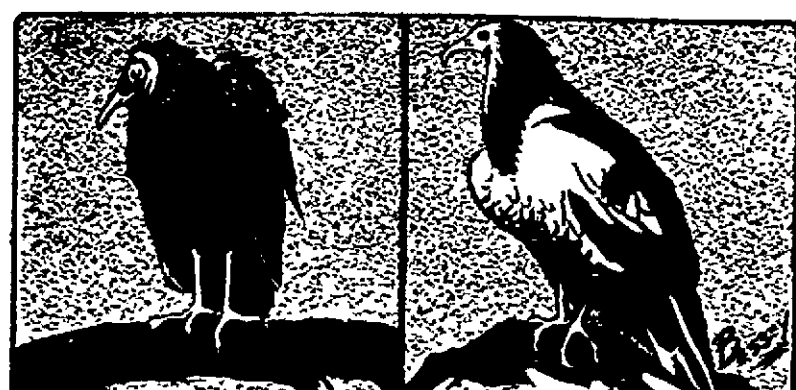

The New World Vultures belong to an entirely separate family from European and African varieties. The most important members are the Condors of South America. They have a wing spread of fully eleven feet and are the largest of all flying birds. They are mountaineers, but float down to the plains seeking carrion or killing aged horses, sheep and cows.

Related to these are the Turkey Vultures or Turkey Buzzards. Their beaks are so weak they cannot tear open the dead body of an animal.

Turkey Buzzards will perch near a dead body for days, waiting for time to disintegrate the prey. Then they flock to the feast.

Vultures and buzzards fly well and can hang suspended in the sky, apparently without moving their wings. They lay one or two eggs on the ground, on rocks or in a hollow stump in thick woods. The artist has sketched here a Black Vulture (left) and an Egyptian Vulture (right), two of the most hideous of the family.
